

ROBERT T. BROWN

Brown Named New President at UCCC

STONE RIDGE
Dean of Administration Robert T. Brown's appointment as president of Ulster County Community College by the college's board of trustees was approved by the trustees of the State University of New York meeting in New York City today.

Brown, 37, will succeed Dr. George B. Erbstein whose resignation becomes effective Aug. 31.

Brown has been dean of administration since February of 1967. He came to Ulster County Community College in September of 1965 as financial officer for the college.

The new president, who was one of more than 400 applicants for the $29,000 a year position, is a graduate of Northern Arizona State University with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He has done graduate work toward his master's degree at the State University College at Albany.

A native of Middletown, Brown has been active professionally and civically since coming to Ulster County in 1965. He is a past president of the New York State Community College's Business Officers Association and has been listed in Who's Who in College and University Administration.

Special

For the past several months Brown has been serving on a State University task force on costing procedures in community colleges. The task force was charged with developing a code of standards and procedures required by the State University Board of Trustees. Brown is also a former president of the New York State Community Colleges Business Officers Association.

He served as general campaign manager for the 1969 Ulster County United Way campaign drive and is a past president of that organization.

Ulster County Community College has shown tremendous growth during the past ten years. The budget, for instance, has tripled since April of 1967 when Dr. Erbstein succeeded the college's first president, Dr. Dale B. Lake.

Brown will head an education complex that enrolled 3,262 students for the fall, 1973 semester with a staff of 87 teaching faculty, a non-teaching staff of 25 and 100 other employees. The college's annual operating budget is in excess of $2.7 million.

There are eight new buildings on the 90-acre Stone Ridge Campus with the college owning another 55 acres about a quarter mile away off the Cottekill Road.

In addition, there is the "President's House" on Route 209 just outside Stone Ridge where the incumbent resides. The president's house has 15 rooms, a barn and a swimming pool and is located on 9½ acres. It was purchased with a $50,000 gift from McDonald DeWitt with the state supplying a matching grant of $25,000.

Contrary to popular belief, the president does not live rent free. There is a charge for utilities and maintenance which has averaged about $2,000 a year over the past few years.

Brown will assume his duties on Sept. 1. There has been no announcement forthcoming on his successor as dean of administration although that decision will be made within the next few weeks.

Brown has resided in Hurley since coming to Ulster County. He and his wife Bonnie are the parents of two daughters, Hollie and Jana.

House Panel Will Reveal Impeach Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has voted to make public most of the evidence it has received in secret impeachment hearings during the past seven weeks.

When the material will be released remains unclear but some members say all evidence relating to the Watergate cover-up, including the committee's versions of White House tapes, could be made public in a few days.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who will have the right to edit the material before it is released, said Tuesday he hoped the entire record of more than 7,000 pages would be available for public scrutiny.

week, that release of the transcripts prior to the completion of judicial proceedings against indicted Watergate defendants would be "very foolish and totally unnecessary" in addition to possibly being prejudicial against those persons coming to trial.

"This is information on which one can make an evaluation," said Rodino. "It should come to the attention of the public."

The 22-16 vote came on a motion by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah.

(Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th District) was one of 16 members of the Judiciary Committee voting in opposition to releasing the transcripts. The vote was 22-16, according to reports from Washington.

Fish contended, in an interview with the Freeman last although it remains to be seen if Fish's contention that publication of the transcripts will be prejudicial to Watergate defendants will be borne out.)

Most of the evidence to be released consists of factual statements bearing on the conduct of President Nixon and his aides without any interpretation or conclusions.

However, it also includes the evidence that led the Watergate grand jury to vote 19 to 0 to name Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up. And it includes transcripts of presidential conversations far more complete than the edited versions released by the White House.

In other Watergate developments:

—Former top Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman and three others go on trial today in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—The Senate Watergate committee is reported ready to release a report written by Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., on possible CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

—A legal consultant to the Watergate committee proposed that Congress limit a president's use of executive privilege and define exactly what he can do in the name of national security.

The House Judiciary Committee resolution excludes from the evidence to be released material relating to the secret bombing of Cambodia that the Defense Department has refused to declassify.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who led the fight against releasing the evidence now, said it would infringe on the rights of Watergate defendants awaiting trial and also could hurt Nixon. He and other opponents favor holding up public release of evidence unless and until the committee votes articles of impeachment, and then releasing only evidence in support of the articles approved.

But Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., one of six Republicans who voted to release the evidence, said he thought the importance of keeping the public informed on impeachment was overriding.

Rodino said the material made public would include any evidence furnished by James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief impeachment lawyer, who will present his rebuttal Thursday.

Although the release of evidence would appear to nullify the rule of confidentiality under which the committee has been operating, Rodino said he is still considering examining witnesses in secret. A decision will be made on the basis of the information each witness can provide, he said.

Two Jail Assaults Alleged

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON
Two teenage prisoners at the Ulster County Jail were allegedly assaulted by other inmates in a second floor cellblock at the jail on Tuesday. One of the victims, a 17-year-old Plattekill youth, was reportedly sexually and physically attacked by six other prisoners in the cellblock.

The assaults came to light Tuesday afternoon when a third teenager who had been housed in the cellblock where the alleged attacks took place, contacted Plattekill Town Justice Wayne Smith and reported the alleged homosexual incident.

A grand jury investigation of the incidents will reportedly begin this week.

The three teenagers and a 20-year-old youth were all sent to the jail Monday night in lieu of $200 bail following their arrest by Plattekill Town Police on charges of alleged possession of marijuana.

Justice Smith told the Freeman today that he advised the youth who reported the assault, Alfred Carrillo, 18, of Huckleberry Turnpike, Plattekill, to contact state police.

A spokesman at the jail said they were notified of the incident by state police at about 4 p.m. Tuesday and an immediate investigation was launched.

The jail spokesman, Lt. Walter Baschnagel, said two teenagers have reported being assaulted in cellblock D. One was allegedly physically and/or sexually assaulted by six other inmates, Baschnagel said. The second was allegedly physically assaulted by two of those six inmates, he told the Freeman.

Baschnagel refused to identify the two inmates.

The Freeman has learned, however, from informed sources that the alleged victim of the sexual attack was Gary Mott, 17, of Huckleberry Turnpike, Plattekill. According to sources, Nelson Montero, 18, of New Hurley Road, Plattekill, was the victim of the alleged physical attack.

The two victims were taken to the Benedictine Hospital where the attack reportedly took place in an emergency room Tuesday night at about 10 p.m. for X-rays, according to Lt. Baschnagel. The asked why such a mixture of sentenced and unsentenced prisoners was allowed in the cellblock in view of the fact that it is a violation of Correction Law. The violation was noted in a recent Commission of Correction report on the Ulster County Jail, which recommended that prisoners be housed according to proper classification.

Harkin said the separation of prisoners has not yet been completed. He said the Commission Tuesday night, was completing "recommended it be done on a gradual basis," adding that it is a lengthy process and that it is "slowly being accomplished," day.

Overlook Barricade Coming Down

By JON POWERS

WOODSTOCK
The road to scenic and historic Overlook Mountain, barricaded since 1969, will be reopened to the public by Sept. 30 of this year, according to New York State Commissioner of Environmental Conservation.

The commissioner's promise to remove the barricades and allow public access to the rugged Woodstock mountaintop and the sprawling state lands beyond, came at a recent meeting of the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Club, and was confirmed Tuesday by another DEC official.

The road to Overlook — where James Fenimore Cooper's legendary leatherstocking hero, Natty Bumpo, is said to have camped and hunted — was closed in September, 1969 by private landowners who own property on the mountain. The action was taken, they said, to protect their cabins and hunting lodges from theft and vandalism by back-packers and hikers.

Since that time, there have been numerous legislative and judicial attempts to reopen the road. All met with failure. But one lawsuit in particular, filed by the New York State Conservation Council, Inc., against the DEC, is still pending.

James L. Biggane's promise to reopen the road to Overlook carries one condition — that the New York State Conservation Council drop its suit against the commissioner and papers with the County Clerk, said the edges of the right-of-way would be conspicuously posted with "No Trespassing" signs, and that the area would be covered in the course of the forest rangers' daily patrols.

Once the road is opened, the two-mile dirt road that leads from Mead Mountain Road, winds past the crumbling Overlook Mountain House, and ends at the fire tower at the top of the peak.

SNAP, CRACKLE, CRUNCH—A car parked in the driveway at 2 Maple Street, Kingston, sustained the brunt of the damage early Monday when a huge dead tree toppled over. The tree, in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Suominen, crumpled the front of Mrs. Suominen's car. Only a light breeze was blowing at the time, she said, adding, "we should have had the tree removed before." Ruling Favors Editorial Judgment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Tuesday handed down a pair of decisions which one law professor said today gives the nation's press and broadcasters "greater immunity from the law than at any time in the nation's history."

The justices unanimously struck down a Florida law which required newspapers to print replies from politicians to critical comment in editorial and news pages.

In a five-four vote, the highest court also made it easier for private citizens to sue newspapers and broadcasters for libel but made it harder for them to win damages.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said Florida's law, virtually duplicated in Mississippi and backed by some congressmen and the administration as a federal statute, violated the free press provisions of the First Amendment.

"The choice of material to go into a newspaper and the editing and treatment of that material are editorial decisions made as to limitations on the size of paper, and content, and treatment of public issues and public officials—whether fair or unfair—constitutes the exercise of editorial control and judgment," Burger said.

In the libel case, even the justices themselves did not agree whether the news media or members of the public were the victors.

In 1964, the Supreme Court made it harder for public officials to win libel suits, ruling they must prove not only that the newspaper or broadcaster was negligent, but also that it was printed with malice or reckless disregard for the facts. Newspapers wanted the same ruling with respect to private citizens.

But the court Tuesday took a middle ground, Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., speaking for the majority, said a private citizen need not prove malice or reckless disregard for facts as public officials must. But, said Powell, the citizen must do more than merely prove the story was wrong; he must also show that the newspaper or broadcaster was negligent. Powell left it to the states to define negligence, which means there must be a lot more test cases on the subject.

Powell also said a plaintiff must show he suffered actual injury to his reputation or livelihood to win compensatory damages.

In other opinions Tuesday, the Supreme Court: —Sidelined a ruling on whether congressmen can also hold military reserve commissions by declaring that a group of antiwar veterans had no right to challenge the issue in court.

—Ruled 6-3 that a person can affix a peace symbol to the American flag.

—Voted 5-4 that a Pennsylvania man had no right to go to court to force the Central Intelligence Agency to reveal its expenditures.

—By a 6-3 vote gave unions representing federal employees the same free speech rights given other unions under national labor laws.

—Ruled 5-4 that transit systems are not required to accept political advertisements on buses, streetcars or subway.

Cloak-and-Dagger... British Style

By MICHAEL DENNIGAN
LONDON (UPI) — On a frosty October evening in 1971, Sir John Peregrine Henniker-Heaton, a former British secret agent with a Van Dyke beard, told his wife he was going round to his cricket club for a drink.

The veteran of years of cloak-and-dagger espionage in the Middle East stepped out of his Victorian-style villa in the quiet suburb of Ealing, slipped into the enveloping chill and vanished.

Police today reported a startling development in the case of the missing British baronet. It had all the makings of a great whodunit. On Sunday, Henniker-Heaton's son Yvo was rumaging about the house in search of a box to store some papers. He came across a lone key pushed into a desk.

Yvo twisted the key in the lock on his father's smoking den and the door eased open for the first time in three years.

Inside on a bed, Yvo found his father's skeleton. An empty bottle lay nearby and an apparent suicide note was found in the pocket of his suit, police said.

Scotland Yard officials said today the discovery ended one mystery that touched off an international intelligence and police search when Henniker-Heaton vanished.

But they said the discovery also posed some additional questions about the bizarre circumstances of his death.

During the bloody years of the birth of Israel, Henniker-Heaton was in charge of British security in Palestine and the target of at least four assassination attempts by bombs blamed on Jewish underground groups. When his wife, Lady Margaret, reported the disappearance, all of Britain's security agencies and Interpol were called in to investigate.

The family said at the time they believed he was the victim of Arab or Israeli guerrillas.

Secret service agents followed up tips he was murdered because of his continued Middle East connections, that he had been kidnapped and that his body had been dumped in chains into a flooded gravel pit near London.

The trails led nowhere. Police sources said today a preliminary autopsy had failed to establish the cause of death.

A coroner's inquest was ordered for Thursday to begin the formal inquiry into the mystery of the locked door.

Ehrlichman, Liddy on Trial in Plumbers Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jury selection was scheduled to begin today in the trial of former White House domestic affairs John D. Ehrlichman and three others accused of illegally attempting to gather psychiatric information about Daniel Ellsberg.

The case stems from the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the so-called White House plumbers. Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon Papers to the media.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell has said the question before the jury in the trial will be simple: Did the defendants plot to violate the Fourth Amendment rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif.?

The Fourth Amendment prohibits searches by government agents without a properly-issued warrant.

Answering pretrial arguments that the break-in was justified as a special case to preserve national security, Gesell said:

"Whatever accommodation is required between the guarantees of the Fourth Amendment and the conduct of foreign affairs, it cannot justify a casual, ill-defined assignment to White House aides and part-time employees granting them an uncontrolled discretion to select, enter and search the homes and offices of innocent American citizens without a warrant."

Thus, Gesell has ruled out a defense based on the origins and motives of the plumbers, a special White House investigative unit established to plug news leaks.

Nonetheless, the principal defendant still is Ehrlichman, who, in August 1971, approved a covert operation against Fielding "if it is not traceable."

The second defendant is G. Gordon Liddy, 43, the silent man of the Watergate scandals, who is under multiyear jail sentences for the original Watergate break-in and contempt charges for refusal to testify before a grand jury.

The others are Bernard L. Barker, 57, and Eugenio R. Martinez, 51, members of the anti-Castro Cuban community of Miami. According to Dr. Fielding they were spotted by Spanish-speaking cleaning people in his modern office building in downtown Beverly Hills during the early morning hours of the break-in.

The burglars found nothing useful.

The four plumbers defendants are charged specifically with plotting the break-in "without legal process, probable cause, search warrant or other lawful authority." The maximum penalty for the single conspiracy indictment is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, the 49-year-old Ehrlichman, a successful Seattle lawyer before joining the administration, is charged with one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of making false statements before a federal grand jury. He is liable for 30 years in jail sentences and $50,000 in fines.

President Nixon has acknowledged approving creation of the plumbers within a week of publication of the Pentagon Papers, a highly-classified study of the origins of the Vietnam War, in part written by Ellsberg in his role as a Pentagon analyst.

Almost simultaneously, Ellsberg was identified as the source of the Pentagon Papers leak and Nixon ordered the plumbers to find out all they could "about Mr. Ellsberg and his motives."

Nixon named Ehrlichman "for supervision of this group" and Egil Krogh, Ehrlichman's assistant, was chosen chief plumber. Others added were David R. Young, formerly a member of Henry A. Kissinger's staff; Liddy, and E. Howard Hunt Jr., who was taken on as a White House consultant. Hunt had been a career employee of the CIA's clandestine operations section.

A principal witness, especially in the prosecution's case against Ehrlichman, will be Charles W. Colson, who turned over $5,000 in political contributions to Liddy, money that allegedly went to finance the operation.

Colson, originally indicted for the Fielding break-in, pleaded guilty to another felony charge in the Ellsberg case, and has been sentenced to one to three years in prison.

Ruling Expected In Calley Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William L. Calley's bid to overturn his My Lai murder conviction is in the hands of a federal judge who has hinted strongly he may free Calley.

U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott took under advisement Tuesday Calley's motion to set aside his conviction and 10-year sentence for the murder of at least 22 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet. Elliott's ruling is not expected for several days.

During a two-day hearing, however, Elliott appeared several times to agree with legal points made by Calley's attorneys while refuting statements by government attorneys that the court is very limited in its scope of review of the Calley case.

In an order dated May 10 dealing with Elliott's granting of bail for Calley, Elliott wrote that he was not prejudging the case but on the basis of prior court records, briefs and oral arguments "it now appears to me that the petitioner (Calley) will prevail."

Elliott's order freeing Calley on bond was later overturned by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court refused to reinstate the $1,000 bond Tuesday. Elliott also denied a new motion for bond Tuesday, saying it would be inappropriate for him to grant it in light of the appeals court ruling.

No matter what Elliott rules, both sides say the decision will be appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals and then to the U.S. Supreme Court.

CALLEY ENTERS STOCKADE

Health Care Issue Still A Controversy

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Medical Association today braced for a storm over one of organized medicine's most controversial issues — checking the quality and cost of federally subsidized health care.

"All hell's going to break loose" one delegate, who preferred not to be identified, predicted.

The AMA's policy-making house of delegates was to receive a conference committee report on what is known as PSRO — professional standards review organizations.

A portion of a 1972 law passed by Congress calls for the establishment of local groups of doctors as professional standards review organizations. These groups would monitor the quality — and cost — of federally subsidized health care.

Numerous resolutions were presented to the house calling for repeal of PSRO, a move opposed by the AMA's board of trustees.

The board took the position that PSRO is something physicians are going to have to live with.

Many doctors feel PSRO infringes upon their professional freedom and is another step in "turning the medical profession into a public utility."

Another hot issue before the profession — national health insurance — got brisk treatment by the house of delegates Tuesday.

The delegates directed the AMA staff to develop a new national health insurance plan in conjunction with state medical associations and launch a major effort to gain support for it.

The action came shortly after Vice President Gerald R. Ford told the delegates the medical profession should move to meet its basic responsibilities in working out a plan for national health insurance.

LEGAL DILEMMA — Two hours after police Lt. Henry Schmiemann, above, 45, fired his pistol, as he lay dying, at the robber who had shot him in the head, John Smith, 27, appeared at a Brooklyn hospital with a bullet in his chest. Smith said that he, too, had been shot by a mugger. But police say Smith is the prime suspect in Schmiemann's murder and investigators say they need the bullet in Smith's chest as evidence in the case. Doctors determined that the bullet posed no threat to Smith's life and its removal was not necessary. Smith himself has not officially refused to have the bullet removed, but a detective said that Smith "privately refused to me to let doctors get at the bullet." The case has posed an "enormously complicated" legal dilemma for authorities. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

CIA Involvement May Be Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee is reported ready to release its vice chairman's secret report on possible CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

The move came after CIA Director William E. Colby asked Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., to make only minor deletions in Baker's 35-page investigative report.

Baker has hinted for months that the report contains significant new information.

But he has maintained silence on its contents while trying to persuade the CIA to declassify the documents on which it is based.

There have been unconfirmed reports from sources close to the Baker investigation that the report may show that presidential advisor John D. Ehrlichman told CIA officials he was acting on President Nixon's orders when he requested CIA officials to provide technical aid to E. Howard Hunt Jr.

Hunt is a former CIA agent. At the time of the break-in he was a member of the White House plumbers and later was convicted in the Watergate break-in.

Hunt asked for disguises, a camera and false ID papers — all of which later were used in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Watergate committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told reporters Tuesday that one part of the Baker report relevant to the Watergate investigation is the section on the telephone call from Ehrlichman to Gen. Robert Cushman, then the CIA's deputy director.

He did not elaborate, but Baker said he will feel free to talk about it after the committee has acted.

Ervin said, however, that nothing he has seen leads him to believe the CIA was involved in the break-in or the cover-up that followed.

Although the committee plans to file its full and final report Thursday, Ervin said it will not be made public until the jury in the trial of Ehrlichman and others is empaneled and sequestered.

That is not likely to occur until sometime next month.

Ervin said special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski requested the delay in issuing the report.

The committee completed Tuesday approving most of the recommendations it will make to Congress for new laws to reform campaigns for federal office.

Mayors Challenge Federal Powers

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's continued commitment to the New Federalism concept of sharing federal administration and Congress to follow through with acceptable amounts of federal aid for second-step New Federalism programs such as mass transit and housing.

The U.S. Conference of Mayors, dominated by Democrats, was expected to adopt a resolution today declaring that the Congress enforce its promises of the New Federalism haven't yet been fulfilled, future impoundment of appropriated funds for urban programs.

The measure, with companion proposals, calls on the administration and Congress to follow through with acceptable amounts of federal aid for second-step New Federalism programs such as mass transit and housing.

The measure also demands that the Congress enforce its promises of the New Federalism headquarters," said Mayor Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee said he thought the President had undercut the New Federalism by impounding urban programs funds Congress appropriated.

The five-day conference, with about 350 mayors on hand, includes with today's business session and the expected election of San Francisco's Joseph L. Alioto as the new conference president.

Lighting Cut Is Declined

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
The Ellenville Board of Education, which is in charge of paying the bills for the construction of the new Joseph Y. Resnick Memorial Building to house the Ellenville Public Library, declined the short run saving of a little money Tuesday night.

Library officials, accompanied by architect Dan Paver of the Middletown architectural firm of Paver and Wildfoerster, appeared before the board to request the deletion of some outside lighting for the new building, which could have saved $2,300.

Paver said the money saved could go towards carpeting for the new building, something that was eliminated to get construction costs down to budget level.

School board members pointed out that the money saved was not nearly enough to buy the carpet — it would cost over $10,000 — and School Board Attorney Benjamin Lonstein said it would cost a lot more later if it was ever decided to put the lighting in.

The proposed lighting reduction would have cut down the number of lights for the parking lot, and eliminated the lighting for a driveway that is not going to be built yet.

"You can never have too much light," said Board Vice President Jack Siegel, and the board declined to approve the lighting cut request.

The board did approve a money-saving change in the ventilation, but it was explained that the change was for structural reasons.

In other action, Business Manager Sol Sashin's $511 mileage bill was referred to Lonstein for a legal opinion. Board member Florene Kirby questioned the bill, particularly the portion to pay for Sashin's trips between his office and the Maple Avenue School.

Sashin was angered at the move, and said it was "discrimination" to question his bill, and not the others the district was paying. Sashin uses his own car, and Board member Morris Posner said he should have a district vehicle.

Mrs. Kirby said he should use one of the district's carryalls.

Action on a 183-day school calendar for 1974-75 was held over for further discussion. The calendar, which Acting Superintendent of Schools Dr. Cary Wood said was arrived at in consultation with the teachers, would have students returning to school on a Friday at the close of Easter vacation.

The board approved a $100 expenditure for a summer band program. The program, directed by Bruce Belanger, music teacher at the high school, will have 12 two-hour rehearsals, and three public concerts. Adults may join the program, though it is mainly for students.

The board heard lengthy reports on the Reading Task Force, by Mildred Carson and Ida Besdesky, and on the Work Experience Program, by Stanley Engleman and Robert Feyh.

Wood announced that the district had been notified that application for Federal Title I funds would be limited to 85 per cent of last year's, according to the State Education Department. He said after the meeting this would affect the summer program.

The board reaffirmed its smoking ban at meetings. Enforcement of the ban has been lax lately.

Planing 'Cheaper', but

KINGSTON
Planing Broadway, Albany Avenue and East Chester Street may be "a hell of a lot cheaper than paving," in the words of Superintendent of Public Works Charles J. Cole but at almost $51,000 it isn't going to be cheap.

Bids were opened Monday at the Department of Public Works offices on East O'Reilly Street with Jim Jackson Asphalt Planing of Little Rock, Ark., the only respondent.

Jackson bid a total of $50,904 for sections of three streets: Broadway from O'Reilly Street to Stuyvesant Street, was estimated at $30,520; East Chester Street between Broadway and other necessary repairs, Pave-Hemlock Avenue was estimated at $6,720 and Albany Avenue sary from the railroad overpass to Manor Avenue was estimated at $13,664.

The planing method preheats the pavement with the use of a huge machine, 50 feet long, those funds when it petitions the eight feet wide and 43,000 pounds, and then smooths it out, next Tuesday night.

Garrow Trial Continues

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (UPI) — As the murder trial of Robert F. Garrow closed out its seventh week Tuesday, a psychologist and a psychiatrist testified that Garrow tried to mislead doctors giving him mental examinations.

Dr. Michael L. Boucher, a clinical psychologist and the administrative head of the open psychiatric ward at Syracuse's Veterans Administration Hospital, testified that Garrow "attempted to appear far sicker than actually was the case."

Boucher, who gave Garrow a battery of psychological tests in two sessions in January, said the defendant showed no brain damage, memory dysfunction, or psychosis and showed an intelligence on "the high end of the average range."

Saying the 38-year-old Syracuse bakery mechanic had tried to "present a picture of severe psychosis," Boucher maintained the defendant was in fact "malingerer or feigning mental illness."

Boucher was the fourth witness called by the prosecution to rebut defense claims that Garrow suffered from mental disorders which made him unable to understand the consequences of his acts.

Earlier Tuesday, Syracuse psychiatrist Dr. Francis Durgin said Garrow was suffering from "an anti-social personality disorder" but that "he knew it was wrong to take a life."

The psychiatrist, who examined the defendant three times, disagreed with defense testimony given earlier by Dr. Jerry Morrow, also of Syracuse. Durgin said he believed "Garrow tried to mislead Dr. Morrow as he tried to mislead me."

Referring to the fact that balding defendant claimed he could not recall the details surrounding the stabbing death of Philip Dombrowski, 18, of Schenectady while the youth was camping in the Adirondack Mountains last July, Durgin said he felt Garrow "was not being honest with me."

Jail Tour Is Planned

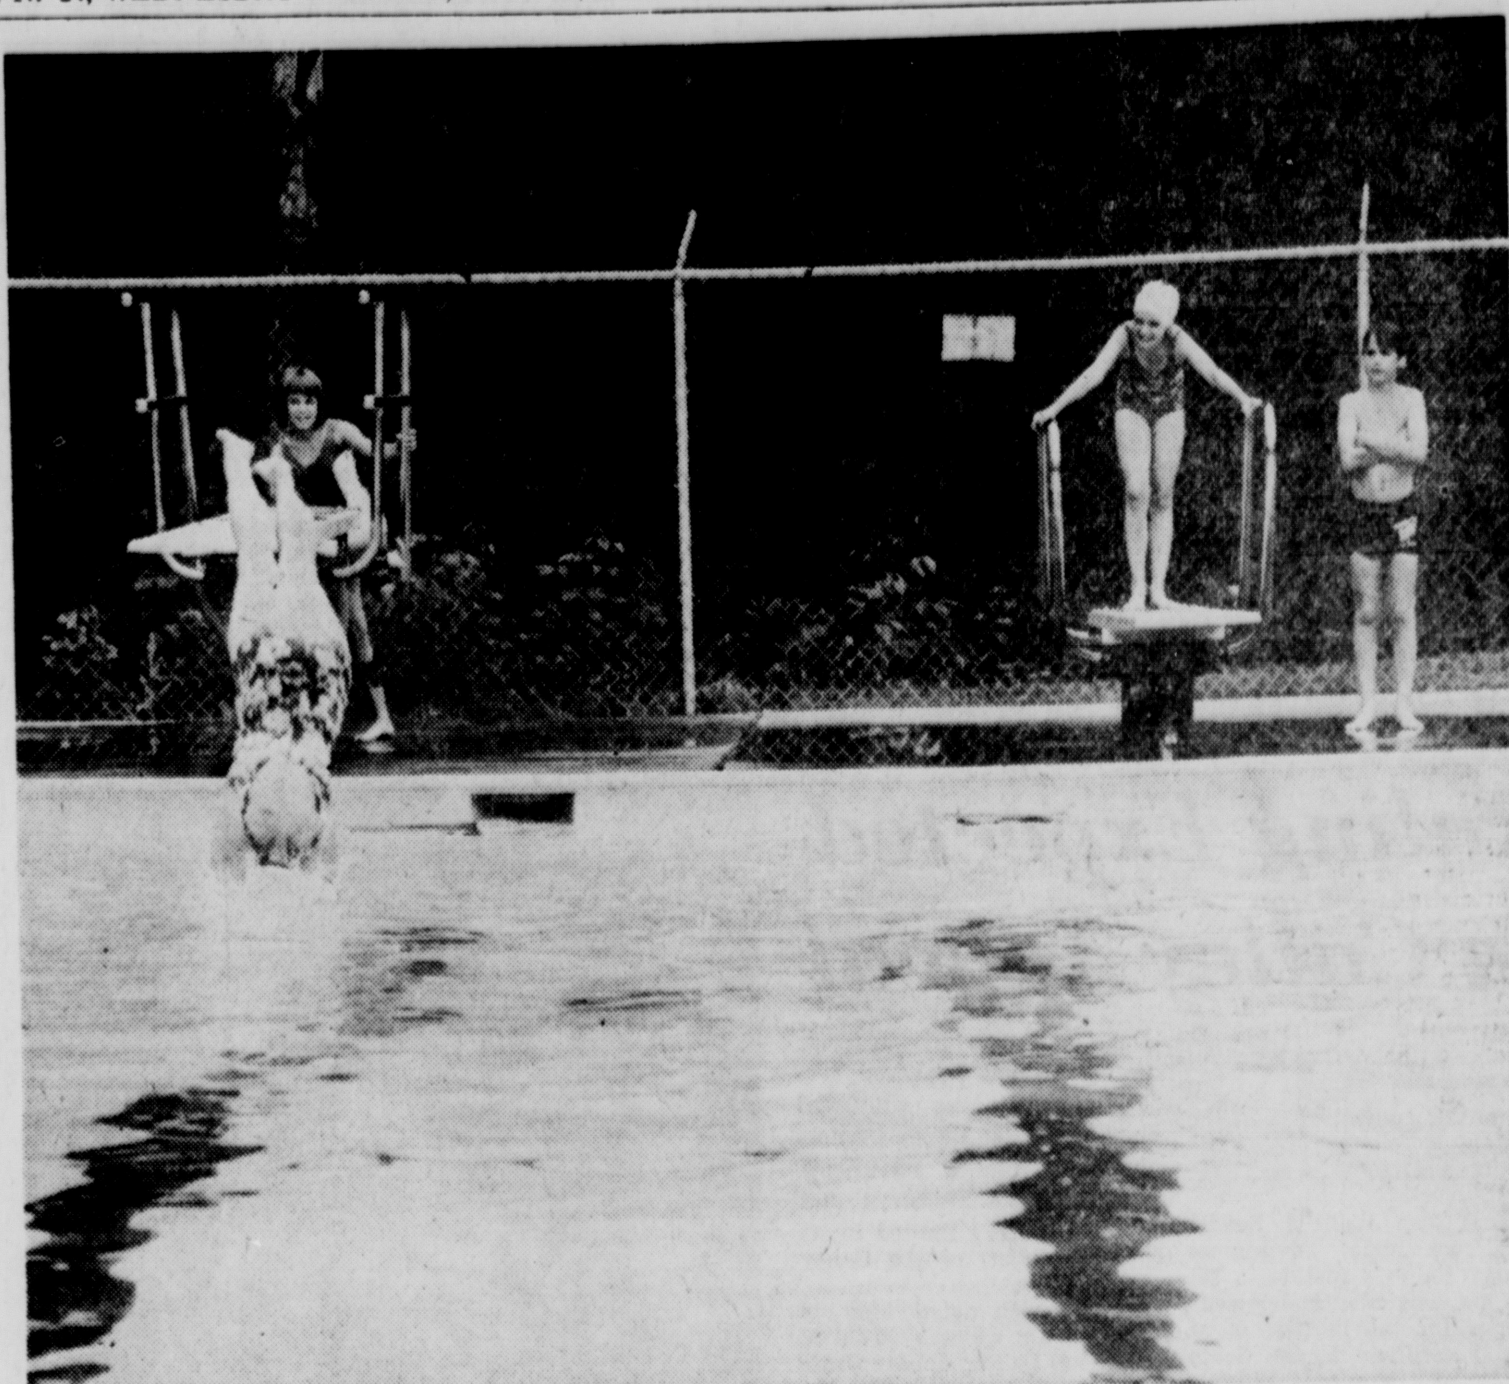

KINGSTON
Representatives of the recently formed "Ulster County Jail Committee" are slated to conduct a fact-finding tour at the jail on Golden Hill Monday, July 1.

"The committee hopes to ascertain the state of living conditions in the jail and insure that the institution is maintained in a humanitarian and constitutional fashion," the group said in a press release concerning the tour.

The committee is composed of 22 area residents, including attorneys, clergymen, professors, reporters and other professionals.

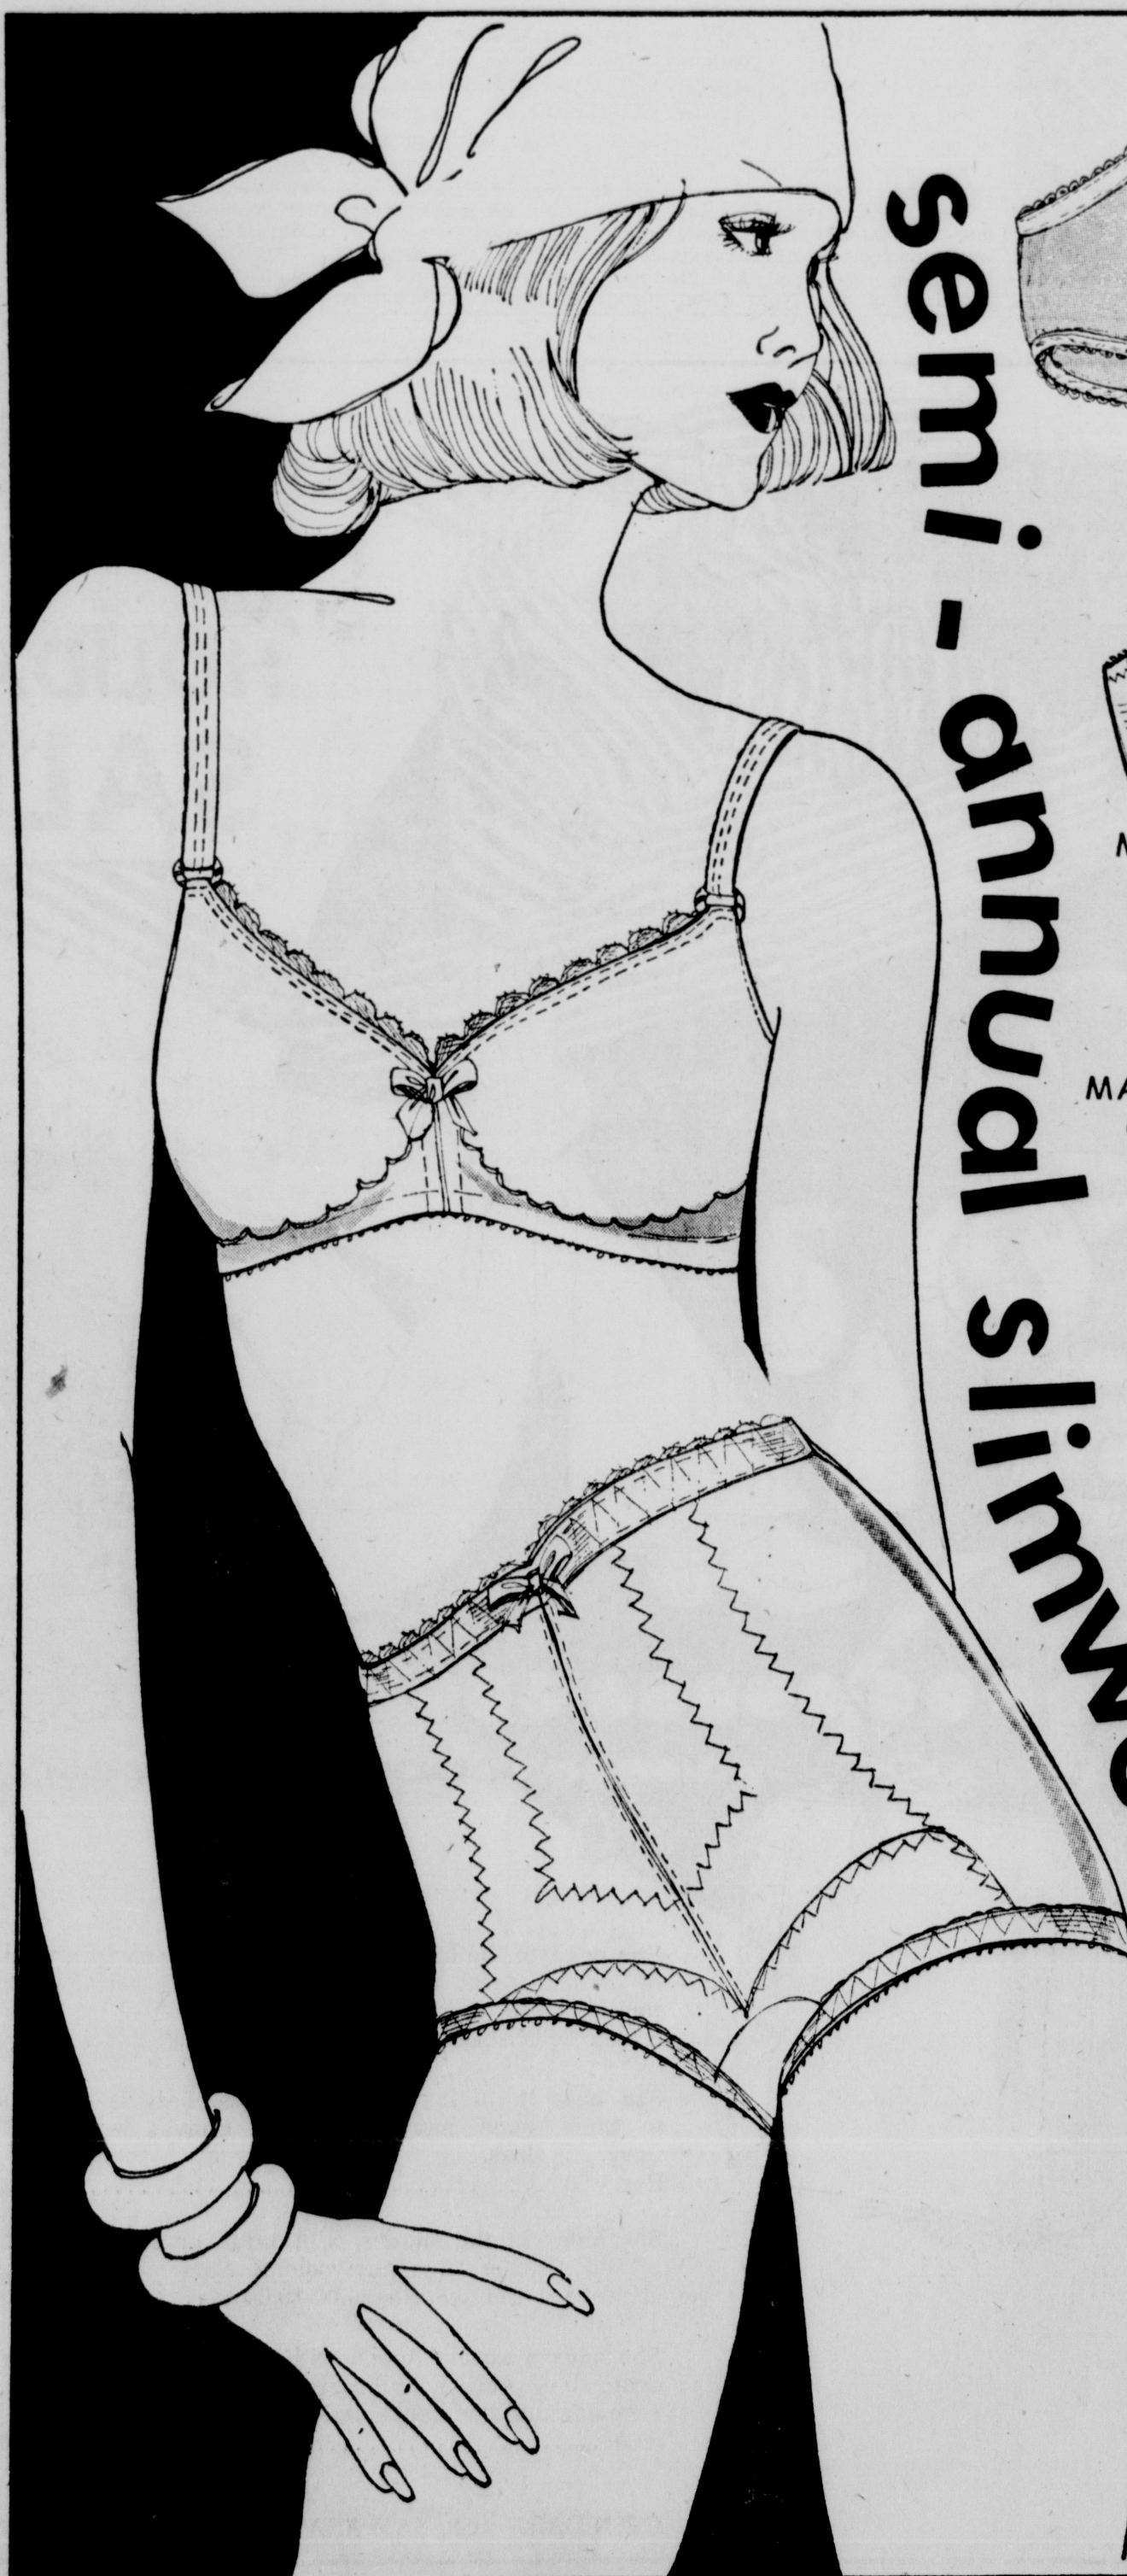

A report of the tour will be made to the committee as a whole for further action.

A visit is being organized by Bearsville attorney Alan Sussman, temporary chairman of the committee, in conjunction with Ulster County Jail officials.

Historic Designation in Gardiner

TOWN OF GARDINER
Designation of two buildings and a 24 acre wildlife sanctuary as a National Historic Site District marks a first for the Town of Gardiner.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society recently received notification of the designation from Lewis C. Rubenstein, National Register Supervisor. The letter was forwarded through the New York State Parks and Recreation Division for Historic Preservation.

Included in the Historic Site District are Huguenot Society holdings at Locust Lawn, the Terwilliger House and the Little Wings Sanctuary. This is the first time that a National Historic Designation has been made in the Town of Gardiner. The parcel on Route 32 in the northeast section of the town has been placed on the National Register with the Department of Interior as an Historic Site District.

In 1956, the fine Federal mansion, known as Locust Lawn, was given to the Huguenot Historical Society by Miss Annette I. Young, of Poughkeepsie. The gift included all of the original furnishings of the house. Locust Lawn was opened to the public and during the ensuing years, Miss Young gave more acreage to be utilized as a Wildlife Sanctuary. Mrs. Virgil B. DeWitt also has added a valuable area to the sanctuary and spent precious time providing educational tours for those interested in ornithology.

During the past year, the stone house adjacent to Locust Lawn, known as the 1738 Terwilliger House, was purchased by the descendants of Evert Terwilliger, builder of the century domicile. The house, and placed under the ownership of the Huguenot Historical Society. The house now is being readied for repairs. Experts who have been assisting restoration efforts have noted that the Terwilliger House is one of the finest houses of its type in Ulster County. Because the new acquisition has had very few, if any, structural changes, it presents a true picture of an eighteenth century domicile. The house consists of one large room with a fireplace, a large central hallway running east to west, and an unusually wide staircase built into the side of the southern stone wall. On the second floor, are large bedrooms on the northern side of the central hallway complete the first floor plan. The noteworthy features of this fine old homestead is found a large bedroom walled with moldings, chair rails, window in wooden paneling with an structures, Dutch doors, and an impressive bedroom fireplace, exceedingly fine fireplace, with a great deal of effort was given to the paneling around the top and the paneling remaining. The one and sides of this fireplace, especially whose great chimney rises from the first floor and continues up through the second story of the dwelling. Across the hall from the second floor bedroom are to be found two smaller bedrooms.

When the grounds surrounding the Terwilliger House have been landscaped, the lawn will end on the banks of the Plattekill Brook. To complete the original picture of the Terwilliger grounds, is a fine old carriage house which is planned to house original wagons and a Revolutionary War ox cart.

Locust Lawn is open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. The Wildlife Sanctuary may be toured by appointment with Mrs. Virgil B. DeWitt of New Paltz. It is hoped that the Terwilliger House will be open to the public by next year.

Sanchez Tops List For Clerk

KINGSTON

Jose Sanchez of 174 West Chestnut Street, with a mark of 99.5 per cent, easily topped seven other competitors for the post of principal account clerk in the city treasurer's office.

Sanchez, a union organizer for the Civil Service Employees Association, scored 89.5 on the examination and had ten points added for veteran's credits.

Charles Hafemann of 6 Red Barn Road, Hyde Park, was second with a score of 85 (no veteran's credits). Hafemann currently holds the $14,750 a year position.

Mrs. Thomas (Margaret) Johnson was third with a mark of 83.5 per cent. Mrs. Johnson is currently a city employee, working as a secretary for the Department of Public Works. A graduate of the State University College at New Paltz, she is the daughter of former Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl.

Under Civil Service law, one of the top three finishers, but not necessarily the top finisher, must be appointed to the position on a permanent basis.

John H. Houghtaling of 147 Greenkill Avenue, whom Hafemann replaced last summer when Houghtaling resigned, was last on the list of those who passed with a mark of 76 per cent.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 26, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The White House howls about news leaks have moved us to relate for the first time how those same horrified gentlemen have tried to use our column to leak unfavorable stories against their political foes.

First, the White House tried to establish a direct pipeline into our office. This was shut down after our exposes of the Nixon Administration landed us on the White House "enemies list."

Thereafter, the President's men used indirect approaches to plant stories with us, once routing information through the Virgin Islands.

Here are the details:
Early in 1969, President Nixon's political tutor, the late Murray Chotiner, called on us to say that the new President wanted friendly relations and that the resources of the White House would be available to us for hard-to-get information.

"We don't know whether Nixon himself was a party to this arrangement. But ex-White House aide Clark Mollenhoff has told us that he learned from the President's former staff chief, H. R. Haldeman, of Chotiner's secret relationship with our office.

Through the Chotiner channel, we received only half-a-dozen stories, including the Justice Department's file on the tax investigation of George Wallace and his brother, Gerald. This was at a time when the White House feared the Alabama governor would run for President as an independent in 1972 and drain votes away from Nixon.

We always double-checked the White House leads and seldom gave the facts the emphasis Chotiner wanted. When we also started publishing Nixon scandals, the olive branch was withdrawn and the Chotiner leak dried up. But we learned that the White House still kept trying to plant stories with us indirectly. We have obtained the confidential White House file, for example, on Sen. George McGovern's campaign treasurer, Henry Kimelman. The file shows how the White House tried to slip us derogatory information about Kimelman.

On May 12, 1972, presidential aide W. Richard Howard wrote to a White House colleague, Fred Fielding, alleging that Kimelman "was nearly indicted last year because he is a liquor importer in the Virgin Islands and apparently he really rakes off the profits."

The allegation, it turned out later, was erroneous. But the memo continued: "We believe there must be material at Justice and Interior on this sleazy character that we would like to obtain through your fantastic sources."

"We could, of course, control the release of this material but need your help in getting what apparently is some pretty good stuff." The memo was stamped "Confidential-Eyes Only."

Not long afterward, the White House received a memo from Interior Secretary Rogers Morton's executive assistant, Bob Hitt. This one was stamped "Very Confidential-Eyes Only."

Hitt provided a rundown on Kimelman, telling about an investigation into alleged irregularities but concluding: "The investigation turned up nothing sinister that I am aware of."

By an interesting coincidence, we received a communication about this time from William N. Greer of the Virgin Islands. He enclosed a two-page summary of allegations against Kimelman, which we investigated but couldn't substantiate.

We were startled to find this letter in the White House's confidential Kimelman file. It was accompanied by a letter from Greer's wife to White House aide Harry Dent. "Enclosed herewith," wrote Nellie Greer, "is a copy of information sent by my husband to Jack Anderson."

We have learned that Greer, a former U.S. marshal, is a security specialist who does undercover work for commercial firms in the Virgin Islands. His wife in 1972 was a minor Republican appointee working in the Government House.

Reached in the Virgin Islands, Greer denied that the White House had instigated his letter to us. He had obtained the detailed accusations against Kimelman, said Greer, from local law enforcement agencies.

The Kimelman file shows that several Watergate figures — ex-Attorney General John Mitchell, ex-White House counsel John Dean, ex-presidential aide Charles Colson and a few others — tried to dig up dirt on Kimelman.

The results can be summed up in June 5, 1972, memo from Dean to Howard. "To date," wrote Dean, "we have been unable to come up with any material on Kimelman that might be used to illustrate the true nature of the money man in McGovern's life."

ZIEGLER'S FISH: A year ago, we revealed that the National Aquarium was forced to spend 10 per cent of its meager budget to maintain fish tanks for senators, representatives and other pampered poobahs. Our story shortly put an end to the government's door-to-door guppy service.

There is, however, one lone fish fancier holding out. The President's press secretary, Ron Ziegler, has stubbornly refused to give up his Bleeding Heart Tetras.

Rumor has it that Ziegler gains great inspiration from his fish. He is about as communicative as his finny friend.

Footnote: The federal fish-tank tender, who must still service Ziegler's aquarium, isn't permitted to enter the office while the great man is present. Not until Ziegler slips out does his secretary notify the aquarist he may enter.

New Tax Burdens

Only last year Congress enacted a sweeping increase in Social Security taxes and benefits, but already there are fresh proposals to raise the tax rate to an even higher than the current 11.70 per cent on employee and employer.

At the present rate, a wage earner pays up to $772.20 a year into the Social Security fund, and in many cases, that amount exceeds federal income tax obligations. The employer pays an equal amount for each worker.

Thus, for many of the nation's workers, particularly those who earn low incomes, Social Security taxes are more burdensome than income taxes. But even at the 11.70 per cent rate, the system is facing financial trouble.

Congress has been told that unless something is done to increase the present $44 billion Social Security trust fund there won't be enough money eventually to pay retirement benefits for present wage earners. It is estimated that because of the lagging birthrate those person holding jobs at the turn of the 21st century will not be able to pay the pensions and medical expenses of those who retired.

Of course the simple solution would be another hike in taxes levied on the wage earner and his employer. When Social Security was launched in 1937, the wage earner paid a tax of one per cent. It is important to point out that the increase in benefits since then has not been in proportion to the increase in the amount paid into the fund.

The wage earner, who is struggling to survive in this period of inflation, is hardly in the position to put more of his earnings into Social Security.

It is time for Congress to give serious consideration to the concept behind the implementation of Social Security. The federal old-age benefit system was not designed to provide full retirement security, but as a complement to private pensions, savings and investments. One possible solution to the problem is that Congress could prescribe logical limits on both payroll taxes and benefits to be paid.

By doing this Congress could protect the wage earner from an insufferable tax burden, and a retirement pension that does not give a fair return to his investment.

Solar Energy

There is an aura of inescapable logic about a power company's judgment that solar heating and cooling will become steadily more competitive with conventional energy sources over the next several years. This logic springs from the circumstance that while oil, gas and electricity prices continue to rise, "solar collector costs will decrease as a result of design and manufacturing improvements."

The quoted passage is from a report by Westinghouse Electric Co., to the National Science Foundation—one of three from separate firms which have NSF grants to study solar heating and cooling. The Westinghouse study notes that whereas such systems are not now economically competitive with oil or gas systems, they seem likely to become so in 10 or 15 years. The study predicts that half a century hence solar heating and cooling of houses and other structures will save more oil daily than is presently consumed as fuel by the nation's automobiles.

Another of the reporting companies, General Electric, stressed another important aspect of this prospective development: it will sharply cut environmental pollution. This projection is that by the year 2000 solar cooling and heating will significantly reduce radioactive wastes besides cutting solid wastes by some 20 million tons and pollutive air emissions by about 430,000 tons.

All this bespeaks the more strongly the importance of stepping up research and development—and not only in direct solar heating and cooling but also with regard to the generation of electrical energy by the sun's heat. Under-rating the significance of this field of energy development would appear to be a serious misjudgment.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Contrary to published speculation, the highest officials of the U.S. government were both astonished and outraged by the overkill of Israel's revenge last week against Palestinian guerrilla bases, endangering fragile peace hopes for the Mideast.

No word was passed to President Nixon, or to any lesser official during the President's stay in Israel, that the retaliation for guerrilla attacks on isolated Israeli villages would begin as soon as he departed. Rather, the Israeli government gave no hint of savage reprisals.

Anger reached its peak here last Thursday when the raids continued into their third straight day, raising a most disturbing question: could killing scores of innocent Lebanese civilians and Palestinian refugees, caught helplessly in Israel's bombing of guerrilla bases, sabotage Mr. Nixon's brilliantly successful peace efforts?

The answer: not yet. Egypt's Anwar Sadat, Syria's Hafez Assad and other Arab leaders are too deeply committed to political settlement and have derived too much benefit from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's diplomacy since the October war to switch course.

But if Israel continues devastating bombing and shelling in retaliation for absolutely predictable Palestinian border raids in the future, the Nixon peace plan might indeed be sabotaged. No Arab leader could long hold to the goal of political settlement while Arabs were being killed by American-made Israeli bombs dropped from American-made Israeli planes.

Yet, the precarious political condition of Israel's gallant new prime minister, Itzhak Rabin, all but assures continuation of Israel's policy of dread reprisal — an escalation of the eye-for-an-eye biblical injunction to its modern-day Israeli version of ten Arabs for one Israeli.

Gen. Rabin, the taciturn soldier-diplomat who last month formed Israel's first government ever composed entirely of native sons, controls only 61 out of parliament's 120 seats. Hence, one defection in his tissue-thin majority could result in a no-confidence vote.

Inside Report

Gamble in Lebanon

Moreover, in the back benches of his own labor alignment sit Rabin's enemies, sharpening their political knives against him: Moshe Dayan, the former defense minister and hero of the 1956 and 1967 wars; Abba Eban, the former foreign minister who learned in the newspapers that he had been passed over in Rabin's cabinet selection; to a lesser extent, even Golda Meir herself, bitterly resentful of Rabin's inclusion of her arch-enemy, the beauteous Mrs. Shulamit Aloni, and her three-member Civil Rights Party in his coalition.

Accordingly, at this precarious point in his infant premiership, Rabin cannot show much restraint in dealing with murderous Palestinian nationalists from neighboring Lebanon. This is particularly true in view of Rabin's own reputation for conciliation and compromise in Israel's struggle with the Arabs.

Just before his election as Labor party leader two months ago, Rabin was outrageously accused of crumbling under emotional strain during the first hours of the 1967 Six Day War when he was chief of staff of Israel's defense forces. Hard-line enemies in the hawkish Likud party accused him of weakness, and the Likud party was the biggest gainer in Israel's last national election.

Thus, powerful politicians both in his own party and in the opposition Likud would exploit Rabin's personal political vulnerability if he failed to respond to Palestinian raids with maximum severity. There is no reason to expect any change in this vulnerability in the immediate future, with the U.S. pressing Rabin's government for further major concessions to the Arabs.

Indeed, the only conceivable restraint is here in the Nixon White House, where a fine line must be drawn between too much or too little pressure on Rabin. Too much might topple his government. Too little might bring down a great deal more. In short, free-wheeling Israeli air raids over the densely-populated refugee camps in Lebanon could sabotage the delicate peace structure being painfully constructed in the Middle East.

Some Middle-Aged Madness

The problem of middle-aged men is exercise. At a time in life when their wives are trying desperately to keep from spreading sideways, the men are vowing to start walking, golfing, fishing, hiking, playing tennis — tomorrow.

I have a letter under the debris of this desk from the late Dr. Paul Dudley White exhorting me to pump a few miles a day on a bicycle. Well, he was on a bike, and what did it get him?

The enigma of middle age is that we require less nourishment and eat more. The U.S. Army conducted scientific tests which led to the dismal conclusion that, if you walk five miles, you lose four ounces of fat.

No good. Long ago, I watched the athletes who enjoyed the most exercise—baseball catchers. They are up, down, up, down behind the plate all day, and I never saw one (except Bill Dickey) who didn't resemble a barrel of beer.

Tennis addicts sweat. Fishermen sit all day with what they refer to as patience. Bowlers drink beer and eat hero sandwiches. Swimming is the best of all sports because it uses all the muscles. There hasn't been a ripple in our pool since the last time our dog thought we bought him a 35-foot drinking dish.

This leaves golf. Not for you, my friend, but for me. I am opposed to walking the 18 holes because I don't want to hold up the play of the foursome behind me. Besides, even with a cart, it is a chore to hold myself up.

If my game has fallen off from mediocrity to insufferableness, I like to play the beautiful new Costa del Sol course with Jerry Edelburg. Mr. E., at one time, was a New York sportswriter when I was a reporter. He is a corporate officer at Costa del Sol, so, for old-timers' sake, I allow him to pick up the tab.

Every golfer owes it to himself to play Edelburg once. He tees off with a 1-wood, smashing the ball beyond the ladies' tee, falling backward at the same time as though punched in the mouth. He cannot hit, pitch or putt. On all par threes, he mumbles "seven" as he lifts his ball out of the cup.

Unless you are on your game, don't play Milton Goldstand. He's a financial consultant out of Chicago who plays the beautiful Aventura course. Mr. G. has a backswing which has been compared to a silent movie of a glacier, but he whacks the ball long and true.

Tom Ferris, like Jackie Gleason, is a marvel of the fairways because his belly hides his knee caps and he hits by radar. Gene Kroll, the scourge of New Jersey, can sink a putt from anywhere, even if it is standing on top of the pin.

Ferris is a southpaw (as I am) and so is Kroll. Left-handers are afflicted with an ugly addiction of hitting a long wood straight to the green. As it flies over the pin, it bends left into the nearest jungle.

You think I'm kidding? You think I do this for fun? This is penance, boy, for the sins of my youth. Julius Boros is the pro at Aventura and he is fat. His addiction is fishing, so, when the course was designed, he had plenty of lakes dug, and he stocked them all with fish.

Boros followed me through three holes of play with his friend Kroll, smiled, shook hands, and said, "Anyway, keep trying." A handsome, bearded Florida columnist, Mike Morgan, is highly intelligent in most matters, but plays golf with 14 woods. Ever watch a healthy man come out of a trap with a 19-wood?

When I play Irving Cowan's Diplomat Course, I average 93. That's because I have played it 1,000 times and know every other blade of grass. I have cut myself down to three kickies a side, and four first downs from behind trees and other ugly impedimenta.

Jim Mahoney, who is Frank Sinatra's press agent, was a dear friend until he made a hole-in-one 225 yards across a lake in Los Angeles. He was playing against Fred MacMurray ("My Three Sons"), and MacMurray parts with a buck with distaste, disgust and revulsion. Today, even Dean Martin won't play golf with Mahoney, which is more of a reward than a punishment.

Does golf reduce my weight? Dr. Lou Bennett says I've picked up six since I last saw me, and I now tiptoe through the bunkers at 178 lbs. However, he says I have the greatest leg muscles since the last time he saw Betty Grable from the balcony of the Bijou.

My wife urges me to the golf course three times a week. While I am trudging around the greens, she is trudging around the clothes racks in 18 stores. Everything evens up in the end...

Running Dogs

Editor, The Freeman:

Don't some of you dog owners realize by now that it is against the law to permit your dogs to be running at large? In the fields behind my home, I saw a large shepherd, who is always in the area, trying to get a fawn, but later took off after the mother after the little one hid in the grass.

Two days later I was dismayed to see another dog frantically trying to outrun the snapping jaws of this same dog, this time accompanied by a large black dog with brownish face and white-tipped tail, followed in turn by a smaller black dog. Anyone recognize your pets in this picture?

I don't know if the dog survived this attack, but if she didn't then somewhere in the dark corners of the woods one or two small fawns are starving to death!

Many of us who love and appreciate wildlife on our own property have the right to start measures to eliminate these killers! So keep your dog at home, the alternatives are not favorable for your pet!

Sincerely,
MRS. JAMES ASHDOWN

Rt. 28 Zoning

Editor, The Freeman:

Is our birthright again to be sold for a mess of pottage?

Just as the energy crisis of the past winter was used by the oil companies and the conglomerates as an excuse for wiping out many of the gains made in environmental protection and threatening others so we now find the real estate speculators and developers attempting to use the assessment increases as a reason for zoning all of Route 28 as "commercial."

If they succeed they will have gone a long way towards destroying the "lifeline" of this area.

EDITOR'S NOTE: An exhibit of art created by Ulster County Jail inmates will be presented 7 p.m. Friday, June 28, at St. Mark's Church Hall 72 Wurts Street, Kingston. Arrangements for the exhibit were made by the Rev. George W. Baker, pastor of the church and Kingston Area Council of Churches chaplain to the jail. The following is a letter to the Editor from some of the prisoners who participated in the art project.

"Thank You"

In behalf of myself and fellow students (For we are still students of God, the one and only artist) we want to give thanks to everyone who has loaned a helping hand in making our little art exhibit a reality. We also give thanks to you, those who will take the precious time to come and see the work we want to be seen so badly. There is a long list of "thank you's" and we don't want to slight anyone because the smallest donation is appreciated just as highly as the largest. Together they made this constructive project possible.

But we must give a special thanks to Rev. G. W. Baker, because he is the first to see and appreciate what we were trying to do in spite of our incarceration. We want to thank him for his sympathy, dedication and devotion, his unselfish concern and loyalty to see that our work continued in spite of our many hardships. I could write a book about this man and somewhere in the middle of it, you would think I am speaking of God. But I am only speaking of a man who is very close to the Almighty, and despite his own comforts, he stands ready to sacrifice and aid his fellow human beings. We would also like to thank the Sheriff's Dept. for their cooperation in this project. And last but not least, we thank this newspaper who has taken the space in their newspaper to bring to you the people, the news that there is something constructive going on inside the Ulster County Jail. So once again we fellow students give thanks to you a thousand times and ways.

Route 28 was built as a highway with the money of all the people of this state and it is questionable whether local communities should have the right to turn it into a Main Street to serve their local needs. The essential and most vital function of Rte. 28 is to make available the recreational facilities of the Catskills to the tens of thousands of people who come here from eastern and southern New York.

Scenic vistas are getting scarce in our country. They have been destroyed in rapid succession by "commercial" interests whose vision is so limited they cannot see them as economic assets.

Aside from the destruction of the scenic beauty of Rte. 28 as it goes through the Catskill Park commercial development will increase the traffic burden along the route, produce traffic jams on busy weekends, slow up traffic because shoppers are generally slow drivers. As a result, the visitors to the area, who make up the basic revenue source, the sportsmen, campers, tourists, the vacationers, will hesitate to return.

The question boils down to this: do we have as town leaders, people of vision, imagination and organizational ability, with the "know-how" for which Americans used to be famous, who could try to find ways to expand our already existing hamlets, towns and villages to supply needed services and leave Rte. 28 alone to continue to be one of the treasures of the Catskills?

We shall see.

Open Letter

Public Service Commission
44 Holland Avenue
Albany, N.Y. 12208
Attention: Chairman
Dear Sir:

On Friday June 7th, 1974, a group of Central Hudson customers entered into a legal dispute with said utility. A preliminary injunction was sought by these customers to prevent any further threats of electricity cut off to those persons who are withholding the fuel adjustment portion of their bills. The ultimate matter to be decided by the courts is the legality of the fuel adjustment charge without public hearings. In a letter to Mr. Joseph Benjamin of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company we stated:

"We would like to bring to your attention another inequity in what is surely a long list of what the customer suffers in his dealings with public utilities.

"As was evident at the court proceedings of Friday, June 7th, Central Hudson has at their disposal a large legal staff to represent them. The expense of this legal staff is part of your operating budget bought and paid for by all the customers of Central Hudson. Ironically in this instance the same legal staff Central Hudson's customers pay for in our bills were turned around and used against us, the customers. Your legal staff must be quite ample as you were able to have at least five attorneys present at the court proceedings compared to our one.

The legal fees incurred during this class action suit brought by the Irate Consumers of Ulster County and the Concerned Consumers of Lower Ulster County, at this point are being paid for out of the pockets of your customers. This of course only adds to the financial hardships of the inflation weary consumer.

We respectfully request at this time that you give your thoughtful consideration to correcting the existing unfair situation and share with us a fair amount of those funds which you have budgeted for legal fees and which we have paid for as part of our bills."

We are calling this matter to the attention of the Public Service Commission and seek your assistance in obtaining a fair solution, as we are only asking for a fair share of that for which we have already paid.

Yours truly,
THE IRATE CONSUMERS OF ULSTER COUNTY

Use of Reason

Editor, The Freeman:

This is in response to Sylvia Day's letter. Anton Refregier's talk on art and the artist in the USSR was scheduled by the WAA in the belief that his reactions — as a noted artist himself and a Trustee of the WAA — would be of interest to the community, particularly since he is returning from a year of first-hand observation.

Ms. Day has unfortunately taken this occasion to, as she says herself, react in anger to a political situation, and then somehow to imply that the Woodstock Artist's Association is in the same category as the butchers of Auschwitz. I get the feeling she considers herself the only one who knows how to honor the dead of Auschwitz. In her mind, we somehow are guilty because we want very much to hear—and to question—an artist in our community who will be returning fresh from more than a year's residence in Russia.

It doesn't make sense for someone who is concerned about tyranny and repression (as Sylvia Day is) to ask the WAA to censor — in any way — a scheduled talk. It seems more to the point for us to maintain calm and reason, lest we lose our souls.

Very truly yours,
ELLIOT GRUENBERG

Greatness of Soul

Editor, The Freeman:

"Minds are conquered not by arms, but by greatness of soul." These beautiful words were spoken many years ago by a philosopher whose wisdom cried out for man to lay down his hatred, his greed, his lust and his selfishness for the good of all mankind. Today, when man and his world faces the possibility of nuclear war and total annihilation, these words are indeed a fitting connotation.

As man has proven many times over, he is his own worst enemy, due to his hatred, greed and selfishness. So if today's man is to be saved and conquered by greatness of soul let him then take courage in all that is good, and what is good? God is good, love is good, caring is good. So simple is good, and yet in our confused and violent society we have lost our sense of true goodness. How sad to see life and its beauty being destroyed by the very same hatred and greed which destroyed many other great cultures of years gone by.

Man must have someone to look up to, someone to lead him when he becomes lost, as we all do at times. Surely in today's government there is not much moral leadership available, so to look there for greatness of soul would be impractical. So let us all look to God and his teachings to show each and every one of us our own "greatness of soul" where man will then be at peace with himself, so he can then be at peace with his brothers and lay down his arms and let the simple good of life shine on all man and his world.

Congressional Math

Editor, The Freeman:

There's the Old Math, the New Math, and now, Congressional Math.

This week Congress will vote on a tax reform bill. This will include Senator Bengtson's plan to increase Federal revenues by reducing the Capital Gains Tax from a maximum of 35 per cent to a minimum of 14 per cent. This 60 per cent reduction, says the distinguished Senator from Texas, will encourage people to make longer term investments to achieve the greatest reduction in taxes. However, since more people will invest (using their hoarded gold, no doubt), the government income will increase.

I suggest that the Senator's pay be increased in this fashion by reducing it from $42,500 to $17,000. Thus, he will avoid a big tax bite, and point to a saving by the government of $25,500 on his salary alone.

This patriotic application of Congressional Math should appeal to our Congressmen and Senators.

Yours truly,
LOUIS FAGON

Former Alderman Dies

KINGSTON
Leonard Van Dyke, 53, of 12 Stuyvesant Street, Kingston's first black alderman, died suddenly Tuesday in this city.

Van Dyke, elected in 1963 as alderman of the old Sixth Ward, served one-term in that post. He was active in the community as former chairman of the Roundout Advisory Board, a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Kingston Chapter, and the Democratic Party.

In 1964 Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke were invited to a White House reception commemorating the anniversary of the signing of Emancipation Proclamation by then President Lyndon B. Johnson.

A veteran of World War II, he served in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1945 in the European Theater of Operations and participated in the Normandy Invasion. Born in Kingston Sept. 10, 1920, he was the son of the late William and Anna C. Fitzgerald Van Dyke.

Liz, Dick Make It Official

SAANEN, Switzerland (UPI)

— Actress Elizabeth Taylor appeared in divorce court here today to end her often-stormy 10-year marriage to Richard Burton.

The movie stars announced earlier this year that they would end the marriage that culminated in a nearly public courtship during the filming of the multi-million dollar movie, "Cleopatra."

Lawyers have not disclosed how their fortune — estimated at more than $25 million — will be divided, although they have said Miss Taylor will retain her glittering collection of jewelry, including the $1 million Cartier diamond Burton bought for her in 1969.

Kniewel Plans New Death Leap

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evel Kniewel apparently knows something about death, considering he's almost killed himself several times by flying his motorcycle over rows of people and things. And now Kniewel wants to jump his "Sky-Cycle X-2" over the mile-wide, 1,000-foot-deep Snake River Canyon in Twin Falls, Idaho, to make him "the most famous man in the world" on Sept. 8 — or so his promoters hope.

At a news conference Monday, Kniewel described his Sky-Cycle—it's 13 feet long, painted red, white and blue and has his name painted on the sides in gold leaf. It looks something like a missile.

"In fact it is a missile," Kniewel said. He said the Sky-

Cycle has 15,000 pounds of rocket thrust—"more than my Lear Jet."

He already has been given a check for $6 million for the stunt, and has been promised 60 per cent of all the proceeds, if the 60 per cent exceeds $6 million.

"I will outdraw the Pro Bowl and the Superbowl put together," Kniewel said, "and I'll make more money than any heavyweight fighter in history."

The Sky-Cycle will take off from an almost perpendicular ramp at one side of the canyon, boosted by a jet-like propulsion system. The craft will shoot 2,000 feet into the air and will float slowly to the other side of the canyon. A hydraulic shaft also will protrude from the nose of the Sky-Cycle to help cushion its blow.

Kniewel said he has a "50-50 chance" of surviving the stunt, if nothing mechanical goes wrong. But he's hedging his bet by numbering the Sky-Cycle "7-11."

Kniewel said his wife supports him in his weird ventures, but does not always accept them with total equanimity. "When I took her and my three kids to the top of the (take-off) ramp," he said, "she looked down and all she could do was cry. And I don't blame her."

As the news conference closed, Kniewel asked all those who will be at the spectacular jump to "blow like hell when I take off, because I'm going to need all the help I can get."

Group Therapy for Fat People

CHICAGO (AP) — Psychologists are succeeding where physicians have failed in helping fat people lose weight, a California psychiatrist says.

And, he said, they're doing it without special diets.

Dr. Albert J. Stunkard said that in the past three or four years effectiveness of weight reduction programs has improved 50 per cent through the use of what psychologists call behavior modification or operant conditioning.

Stunkard, chairman of the psychiatry department at Stanford University, told newsmen at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association Monday that the medical profession "has been very backward" in using this new, proven technique to help persons lose weight. He said "psychologists all over the map are doing it."

The psychiatrist, who described the technique at the AMA meeting, said he has been involved with about 130 obese patients at the University of Pennsylvania, where he formerly taught, and at Stanford.

Obese patients enrolled in these group therapy programs do not have to go on special diets and are not even told to restrict their food intake at first.

It begins with the patients keeping a diary of when, what and how much they eat and how they feel when they do it.

Stunkard said that just keeping records helps patients start losing weight as they become aware of how much they eat. Patients are advised not to have a lot of food around their homes and to keep away from psychiatrist said. Therefore, tempting situations. They are they are advised to put down told to eat in just one place in the house.

Persons who eat while watching television, for example, become stimulated to eat in that situation, he said.

Fat persons also tend to eat faster than others, and the 1½ physiological signal that they are full is not triggered until after they've overeaten, the psychiatrist said. Therefore, the weight loss is maintained, he reported.

Many become aware from their diaries that they eat when they are anxious or depressed, or otherwise disturbed, and when this becomes apparent they develop other ways of coping, Stunkard said.

On the average, patients lose 1½ pounds a week during the 10 weeks of the group therapy sessions and continue to lose during a period of follow-up and the weight loss is maintained, he reported.

Physician Manpower Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Harvard Medical School professor told a Senate subcommittee this week that "a serious dilution in the quality of physician manpower in the United States" has resulted from an influx of foreign medical graduates.

About one-third of the U.S. physician pool and up to 80 per cent of doctors in state mental hospitals are foreign graduates, said Dr. Robert J. Weiss.

Other witnesses testified that foreign doctors are often undertrained, experience language barriers and operate in a "medical underground" or under temporary state permits if they are unlicensed.

Foreign medical graduates fail state license tests six times more often than American graduates and fail nearly three times more often on specialty board exams, Weiss said.

Citing a Harvard study of 27,710 foreign physicians who emigrated to the United States between 1961 and 1971, Weiss said the American Medical Association was unaware of between 24 and 33 per cent of those physicians.

His testimony was offered in connection with health manpower legislation sponsored by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. The current manpower law expires June 30.

The Kennedy-Javits bill would require graduates of federally assisted health schools to serve two years in medically deprived rural areas and city slums.

It would also authorize the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to prevent overproduction of medical specialists and would require relicensing every six years under national minimum standards.

Oral and written English proficiency exams would also be required under the proposed legislation.

Large Recall For Defective Smog Devices

DETROIT (UPI) — Automakers facing the largest recall ever to fix possibly defective smog control devices on 1.4 million 1972-model cars don't expect a big response from car owners, because repairs could hurt their gas mileage.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Tuesday said it has notified General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Volkswagen that tests show their cars emit more pollution than permitted under 1972 standards.

If a recall is ordered, it would be only the second time the agency has ordered a fix on emission control equipment.

GM, Chrysler and VW said they would have no official comments until the EPA announcement until it could be studied. Herbert L. Misch, Ford vice president for environmental and safety engineering, identified his company's suspected models as those equipped with the optional 400-cubic-inch engine.

Misch said Ford officials will meet with EPA personnel as soon as possible to evaluate the data from the surveillance tests conducted by an outside contractor. He said about 100 cars were tested.

"On a safety-related recall, where there is the possibility of injuries, only about 70 per cent of the cars are ever brought in," commented one spokesman. "We don't expect that many with a pollution recall, since a lot of motorists have been disconnecting that kind of equipment."

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train admitted in announcing the possible recall that owner return of cars for repair of the devices would have to be voluntary. He would not say what 1972-model cars might be affected.

'Shooting for the Moon'

POUGHKEEPSIE what it is costing our agencies just to maintain a status quo and what the United Way has been raising."

Ketcham added, "The admission of new agencies to the United Way family will make it even more imperative that we reach the goal set." He was referring to the board's acceptance of United Way admissions committee report concerning the application for membership of eight social service agencies in the county.

The committee report recommended that United Way accept Meals on Wheels of Northern Dutchess; Pleasant

They keep doing it year after year, exceeding the United Way goal in Dutchess County, but this year's announced campaign goal represents "shooting for the moon," according to Roy C. Ketcham, president and Richard Cole, chairman.

The goal of $1,350,000 was set for 1974, scheduled to begin in September. This represents an increase of 20.7 per cent over the $1,118,460 raised in 1973.

Cole said that the "unprecedented increase we are trying to raise has to be established if we hope to close the ever widening gap between Valley Day Care Center and the Poughkeepsie Family and Child Development Center contingent upon development of a plan whereby the latter two agencies can pool their resources.

The report recommended that Voluntary Action Center be denied admission, but that it may explore the possibility of integrating with central United Way service functions.

Four other agencies were denied admission: Association for Children with Learning Disabilities; Hudson Valley Opportunities Industrialization Center; Recreational Park of Red Hook and Tel-Care.

Rosenblatt Advice: Identify Property

POUGHKEEPSIE. "Marking appliances and other valuables of that type will, in many instances, make the difference between convicting a thief or setting him free," he said, "based on a claim that the property is not identifiable and cannot be proven to have been stolen from the victim's house."

Engraving tools may be borrowed at the Hyde Park, Innis Avenue, and Hudson Plaza branches of the Poughkeepsie Savings Bank; the Ulster Savings Bank on Route 44; The First Savings and Loan Association on Cannon Street; and the Empire National Bank branches at Bradley Plaza and 44 Plaza.

NEW MANAGEMENT — Burt and Rosemary Ellis are opening a new restaurant on Boice's Lane in the Town of Ulster, opposite the Kingston IBM plant. Grand opening of the new Maples Restaurant is scheduled for July 1 and will feature a menu popularized by "Tony's" and new items will be added in keeping with the "fast food" trend which is so popular in the Kingston area. This will be the second restaurant for Burt and Rosemary Ellis who also own and operate the popular A & W Restaurant on Converse Street, near the Kingston Shopping Plaza. That eatery was opened in 1973. On hand at the recent closing were Realtor Howard L. Fox, who negotiated the lease; Supervisor Carmine Sabino of the Town of Ulster, Rosemary Ellis, Burt Ellis and Robert Regan, president of the Ulster Business and Professional Association. DOWNTOWN STORES DEBUT — The grand opening of two new stores in downtown Kingston took place last Saturday afternoon. Welcoming the goodly number of customers were Robert Johnson (L) husband of one of the proprietors and Ed Scheely. Susanne Johnson is the proprietor of one of the new businesses, the Downtown Arts and Crafts Shop while Scheely is in charge of the Jewelry Shoppe. He also is an art teacher at the Rondout Valley School. The new stores are located at 29-31 West Strand. (Freeman photo by Carey)

Open House Scheduled July 27

Heritage Bank Lists 100th

KINGSTON special window and lobby exhibits will be held, emphasizing the history of Heritage Savings Bank and Kingston, as well as other historical displays.

On July 27, an open house will be held at all Heritage offices with tours of the bank being conducted. Celebrities, entertainment, souvenirs and refreshments will highlight the open house. Other exciting events will be announced.

Heritage Savings Bank, formerly Kingston Savings Bank, was organized in 1874, just two years after the villages of Rondout and Kingston joined to incorporate the new City of Kingston. The Heritage Savings Bank had its modest beginning in rented quarters in the old Romeyn Building at 293 Wall Street, only a stone's throw from its present location at 273 Wall Street. The bank opened its doors June 29, 1874.

Public faith and confidence made the 293 Wall Street Office inadequate for the new Bank's flourishing business. Larger quarters were secured in the Argus Building in 1885. This building occupied what is now the Wall Street driveway to the parking lot surrounding the Ulster County Courthouse.

In 1954, Heritage Savings Bank, once again faced with inadequate banking quarters, continued dedication and interest in the historical banking building. In 1960, the forward section of the 1900 bank building was demolished and replaced by the present, modern facility. The reconstructed bank building, opened to the public in 1961, served to signalize the growing importance of the Kingston metropolitan area and of Wall Street today, its main business artery. The 1960's also brought on a tremendous growth rate for Heritage Savings Bank, that eventually established the bank as the largest thrift institution in Ulster County and this still holds true today. In July 1966, Heritage Savings Bank converted its savings accounts to computer operation, the first in Ulster County to do so. The computer operation further evidenced Heritage Savings Bank's desire to give its customers the most efficient, modern and convenient service possible. In 1967, the Heritage Savings Bank became the first savings bank in Ulster County to obtain an approval for a branch office.

The motto of Heritage Savings Bank is "Preserving the Past, Providing for the Future." Heritage Savings Bank has preserved the past through its Kingston.

In 1973, Heritage Savings Bank experienced the largest percentage growth in assets and deposits of all savings banks in New York State. Heritage has two other offices besides its main office at 273 Wall Street. The Bonanza Branch is located on Route 9W, Town of Ulster and the Ramapo Branch is at 253 North Main Street, Spring Valley. The Dutchess Mall Office, Fishkill, will open mid-August this year.

Heritage Savings Bank, with assets of more than $132 million, recently announced that an application has been filed with the New York State Banking Department to merge with the Beacon Savings Bank. The merging Banks will maintain the name of Heritage Savings Bank with main offices in Kingston.

GOOD LUCK — Richard Malin of Route 212, Bearsville wishes Dr. Wayne E. Tremper good luck in the operation of the new animal hospital. Malin brought his one-year-old

Animal Hospital Opens on Rt. 32

KINGSTON Ulster Animal Hospital, located on Flatbush Road, Route 32, about a half-mile north of the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge approach, is now in full-time operation.

Dr. Wayne E. Tremper, who is in charge of the animal hospital, said that although outside construction is not yet completed, the interior of the hospital has been in use since June 1.

Dr. Tremper, who is married to the former Miss Shelia Plunket, daughter of Attorney and James C. Plunket of Kingston, pointed out that his business will be devoted to the care of small animals.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Tremper of Campbell Hall, Dr. Tremper graduated from Goshen High School in 1959 and from the New York State College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University in 1965.

He was associated with Dr. James J. Flannery of Newburgh from 1965 to 1972 and with Dr. Peter V. Poggi of Pleasant Valley from 1972 until he recently opened his own business on Route 32.

Dr. and Mrs. Tremper and their four children make their home on the hospital grounds.

The hospital building was designed by C. Bradley Lynch, Hyde Park architect and constructed by Hoffstatter Brothers of Kingston.

Speaker to Explore Rip Van Winkle Legend Location

PALENVILLE
Rip Van Winkle was around a long time before the bridge was built, but was he in fact supported by his creator Washington Irving to have slept his 20 years atop a mountain in Palenville?

This question will be vigorously explored by David George Erdmann, chairman of the History Department of Albany Academy, Thursday at the monthly meeting of the Mountain Top Historical Society, held at the Hunter School at 8 p.m.

And Erdmann will recount the colorful history of Palenville and the clove leading to the mountain top, famous among mountain trekkers for hundreds of years.

According to local legend, Washington Irving set his Rip Van Winkle tale in the settlement of Palenville and on the mountain top, with the sleep atop the mountain.

Palenville historians noted that while Washington Irving never confirmed nor denied the location, local lore indicated that he smiled "sheepishly" when Palenville and the mountain top were mentioned as locations.

The Erdmann family lives in a bluestone house in Palenville and during the summer he coaches tennis at the Onteora Club. Erdmann, formerly chairman of the History Department at Trinity-Pawling School in Dutchess County, is a writer as well as historian.

The July 25 meeting of the Society will feature Dr. Alice Kenney, professor at Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Pa., who will speak on "Burghers and Boers in the Hudson Valley." Dr. Kenney has asked descendants of Dutch settlers and other interested persons to bring artifacts to the meeting for display.

Mountain Top Historical Society meetings are held the fourth Thursday of each month and are open to the public. And persons interested in joining the hiking program may contact Mrs. Justine Hommel, Box 376, Haines Falls.

Model T Owner Says 'Goodbye' To Old Factory

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Sometime this summer, Ford Motor Co. will close its manufacturing plant in Dearborn, Mich. It was in the Dearborn plant's Rouge Building that the last Model T ever built rolled off the assembly line in 1927.

This week, more than 400 current Model T owners are traveling to Dearborn to say goodbye. From virtually every corner of North America, the men and women who still swear that the old Model T was one of the finest pieces of machinery ever built will coax their finely-tuned and preserved automobiles to the Michigan rendezvous.

Among those making the trip is Gus Lovy, owner of the Ulster County Auto Radiator Works on the East Chester Street Bypass in Kingston. Affable and enthusiastic, Lovy sees this trip as a pilgrimage to the mecca of the Model T... and a chance to have some fun too.

It requires a bit of bravado and something of the frontier spirit to chance a 680-mile trip in a 50-year-old car that doesn't run much faster than 35 MPH. Accordingly, Lovy approaches his trip with a carefree attitude. "We'll go as far as we can go, and then put out the distress signal," he said before departing. "If we make it, we make it. If we don't, it will have been fun trying."

Lovy and his wife (Angeline) aren't so sporting that they refuse to at least take some precautions. "We'll carry two spare tires, a well-stocked toolbox and a lot of extra parts. Then we'll cross our fingers," he said.

Historical Film Will Be Shown

NEW PALTZ A historical film, "Ulster County Revolutionary Days," will be shown at the next meeting of Ulster County Chapter 975, American Association of Retired Persons.

The meeting begins at 1 p.m. on Monday, July 1, and will be held at the VFW building on Route 208 in New Paltz. The chapter will sponsor a three-hour Hudson River sail on July 22. Chartered buses leave Simmons Plaza in New Paltz at 11 a.m. and will take members to Newburgh, where they will board the boat. Those going are asked to bring along a box lunch.

All seats have been sold for the July 10 trip to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, N.J., but Mrs. Helen Anderson of New Paltz, who is handling reservations, will take several more as standbys in case of cancellations. The bus leaves Simmons Plaza at 8 a.m.

The monthly Dutch Treat dinner for July will be held at the VFW building in New Paltz on Sunday, July 14, beginning at 1 p.m. Call Mrs. Edna Eggers of Tilton for reservations for the roast beef dinner.

Plans for August for the chapter include a trip to The Saratoga Raceway on Aug. 19 and to the German Alps Festival at Purling on Aug. 21. Details of the Purling trip will be announced later.

McCaig Elected Second VP Of Valley Vols

SAUGERTIES Donald R. McCaig of Saugerties has been elected second vice president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, thus assuring that Saugerties will be the scene of the 16-county organization's 1977 convention.

McCaig, who is also second assistant chief of the Saugerties Fire Department, was elected without opposition at the HVVFA's 1974 convention over the weekend at Mahopac and Brewster, N.Y. The Saugerties firemen also won second-place trophy as the best appearing company in their category.

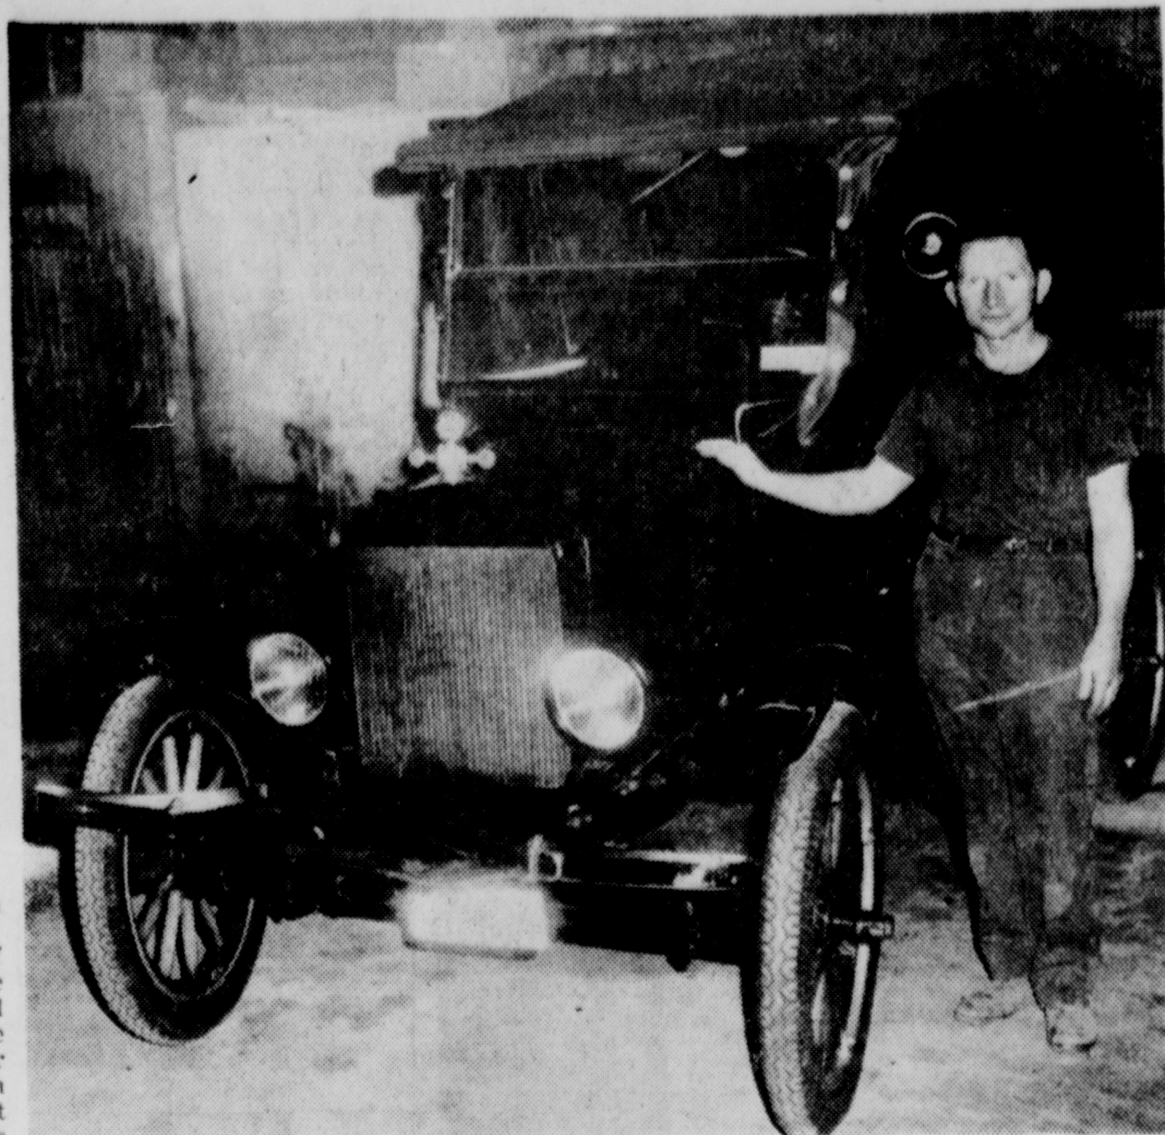

Saugerties last was host to the HVVFA convention in 1934.

That might be a good idea, is the Thruway. It's hazardous enough for the frail and fragile Model T, but Lovy also believes his presence endangers the other cars and trucks on the superhighway. He prefers the more relaxing country roads.

Barring any of a hundred misfortunes that could occur between here and their destination, the Lovys were scheduled to arrive in Dearborn Tuesday. They'll have four days to tour the historic Ford assembly plant, do some sightseeing and prepare their car for the long journey back. They'll leave Dearborn sometime Saturday.

The trip promises a blend of pleasure and sadness. There aren't many of the old Model T's left; the demise of the Dearborn plant is just another reminder that the magical era of the old Model T has all but disappeared. But as long as people like Lovy remain, the memories will continue to linger.

Lovy and his wife left for Michigan Saturday. They planned to follow Route 20 west, cross the border at Niagara Falls and then head for Dearborn via Canada's coastal route. One road Lovy won't travel

LEGISLATIVE ROUNDUP — Saugerties Republican Club is among many groups before whom Assemblyman H. Clark Bell has been speaking during the days since the legislative session in Albany came to a close recently. Bell's talks have centered on legislative measures and how they

Bell Slated As Panelist

NEW YORK CITY — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-101st Dist.) will be a panelist when the Assembly Standing Committee on Governmental Employees hosts an open meeting on the role of public employee retirement systems as stockholders in private corporations.

The meeting will be held Thursday from 9:30 to 4 p.m. in the Graduate Center Auditorium of the City University of New York, 33 West 42nd St., New York City.

Bell, who is the first ranking majority member said that "Ownership of stock gives the retirement system the right to vote at stockholders' meetings, and therefore these systems may have the ability to influence corporate policies."

"This situation raises the question of whether these retirement systems should be allowed to exercise their votes on their own initiative or whether the Legislature should set up ground rules for their use of voting power," Bell said.

"Also fundamental to the issue," Bell pointed out, "are the questions of what percentage of a single corporation's stock a public pension system should be allowed to buy, and what percentage of it assets it should invest in a single corporation."

"These are some, but by no means all, of the aspects of this important matter which will be explored at the open meeting," he said.

Marie Bernadette Ruddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Ruddy of 22 Prospect Street, Saugerties, became the bride of Tommie Edward Walker, son of Mrs. Mildred Walker, Griffin, Ga., June 15 at St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties.

The Rev. Thomas Moran, uncle of the bride, a Colonel in the U.S. Air Force who just returned from a tour in Thailand, officiated at the double ring ceremony along with two former classmates, the Rev. The bridal party wore light blue, floral printed, polyester gowns which were made by Mrs. Richard Thornton, mother of the matron-of-honor. For personalized savings that yield top interest Sawyer Savings Bank's regular savings accounts represent a very real advantage for depositors. Planned in a very personal way by their owners, they nevertheless provide uniformly high earnings for money set aside. Daily dollar growth, earning maximum interest allowed savings under state regulations, helps savers reach their goals more quickly. All deposits are federally insured.

As a Regular Savings Account holder, you are allowed to deposit as much—or as little—as you wish, when you wish. There are no limits. (Deposits made by the tenth of the month will, of course, receive interest from the first of that month.) And no special arrangements or interest penalties are required.

Sawyer Savings Bank also has available a selection of Savings Certificates which provide higher yields for long term savings. (In Savings Certificates, a substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal.)

Stop in soon to discuss the plan most suitable for you— for highly individualized immediate needs or for long-term future goals. Either way, you'll find more in terms of satisfaction, interest and efficiency when you save with us.

The end of the quarter is the beginning of the buck!

It's that time of year again—the end of the quarter. When the nickles, dimes and quarters of interest on your savings add up to dollars. And, because Rondout compounds interest continually, the longer your money remains on deposit, the greater the yield.

You'll see what we mean when we record your interest for the second quarter this week. Where else has your dollar increased in value these past three months? And where else will it grow as much in the months ahead? Where else will the value of your dollar go up... and up... and never down?

KINGSTON BALLET ENSEMBLE appeared as guest performers on the stage of Kingston High School recently for the benefit of the Vietnamese Children. A full ballet, never before performed in Kingston, was staged by Fred Douglas deMayo of Kingston School of Ballet. Appearing in the new work by Tchaikovsky were all local artists from the Kingston-New Paltz area. Entitled "Serenade For Strings," the ballet featured Cheryl Miller, Julia O'Donnell of Kingston; Wendy Baker of Rifton; Janet Fishburne of New Paltz; Tara and Megan Roche, Stone Ridge. The ensemble recently completed performances in New Paltz. A special filming of the ballet was made for television. The work will be aired locally and on educational channels. All dancers are students of ballet, sponsored by Kingston School of Ballet and New Paltz School of Ballet, under director deMayo, former leading artist with the National Ballet and a member of the Metropolitan Opera. Another First For New Paltz

New Paltz Chapter of American Field Service will host an end-of-stay bus trip this Friday. Students from abroad who will be returning home in July will be taken on a tour of three different communities. New Paltz High School at 9 a.m. will be the pick-up point for one of the tours. This is the first time New Paltz has been involved in an end-of-stay bus trip, and AFS members are looking forward to meeting the students.

The purpose of the trip is to further enhance the students' knowledge of life in the United States. The trip also gives communities an opportunity to find out something about the students' home countries, and about the AFS program.

The students, approximately 30, who will be meeting in New Paltz have been staying in this part of New York State with individual families. After leaving New Paltz, they will travel to Raymond, Me.; Duxbury, Mass.; and Haverford, Pa., and will stay a few days in each place. While there, they will be entertained in various peoples' homes, and in turn speak to different groups about their own countries.

Appreciation was extended to Mrs. Raymond Coats and her daughters Eileen and Diane for their work and time in making toys for the Gift Shop.

A basket of linen was awarded to Mrs. Joseph Krajicek Jr.

During the year numerous afghans were contributed to the VA Hospital, along with paperback books, playing cards, and articles for the Christmas Gift Shop. Dozens of glass bottles and jars were collected for recycling, as well as hundreds of pounds of newspapers and magazines.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Albert Metz and Mrs. Raymond Slater. Meetings will recess during July and August and resume again Wednesday, Sept. 11.

'Coney Island Holiday' Bazaar

There are church bazaars, and then there are church bazaars, but St. Mary's of the Snow in Saugerties will be staging one this Thursday through Sunday that promises to be most unique. Called "Coney Island Holiday," the bazaar will follow the theme of the Coney Island boardwalk with all its attractions. From 7 to 10 o'clock each evening, boardwalkers will be able to test their skill with such varied implements as darts, cork guns, and basketballs. There will be a dunking booth, a balloon-popping booth and a merry-go-round. The traditional bazaar highlights will be featured also: stitch and sew concession, a cake booth, refreshments, snow cones, fried dough, and, in a picnic vein, both pie and watermelon-eating contests. Residents of the entire Mid-

Hudson Valley are welcome to take part in the fun. A Las Vegas vacation or $500 in cash will be awarded. Coney Island Holiday will be staged on the parking lot of the church grounds. General chairman is Joseph Gavner.

If Husband Won't See Counselor, Go Alone...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I'm actually writing a letter to Dear Abby! Wow, what a corny trip! I know you're not "God," but you say a lot in a few words and your answers make sense, so here goes:

I'm a 34-year-old married woman with two kids and a million problems. The biggest is my marriage. It's going downhill fast.

My husband and I fight all the time. We've got money problems, in-law problems, he says I'm a lousy housekeeper and he's right, and I say he spends too much time with "the boys" and not enough with me and the kids. (He's a sports freak.) We can't even discuss our problems without ending up in a fight. The only thing we've got going for us is sex. That's terrific, but you can't stay in bed all the time. Don't tell me we need "counseling." He'd never go, and I can't afford a shrink, so forget that.

All right, Abby, you've got all the answers. Answer this one.

MISERABLE

DEAR MIS: The answer I have for you, you won't like. You need professional counseling. (Friends are a waste of time. They tell you only what they think you want to hear.)

You say your husband won't go? Well, go alone. If you learn how to handle your husband, you will know more than you know now. And with luck, you can get him to go later.

If you need a shrink and can't afford one, your Family Service or Welfare Department can provide that at a price you CAN afford. Now get going and let me hear from you in 30 days.

DEAR ABBY: I was a very happily married woman until I went to this mind reader. She told me that my husband was on drugs and also that he was unfaithful to me.

I asked my husband about this and he denied it. I want to believe my husband because we have two kids, and I don't want to break up my marriage.

Abby, why would that mind reader say something like that if it wasn't true?

I don't know what to believe. Can you help me?

MESSED UP MIND

DEAR MESSED UP: I'd believe my husband. I would also stay away from "mind readers."

DEAR ABBY: Tell me something. Do I have a right to complain? We've been married for 14 years, and for the last ten years my husband has taken a 10-day skiing vacation without me.

I couldn't go because I had no one to leave the kids with. I took one vacation without my husband five years ago. I went to Florida for a week to visit my folks, and I took my kids with me. Some vacation!

My husband says: "Just because YOU have to stay home doesn't mean I have to."

Rah, rah, for women's lib!

DEAR ANGRY: You made your first mistake when you stayed home with the kids while hubby took to the slopes. They're his kids too, aren't they? The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so give him three choices: (1) The whole family takes a vacation together — kids included. (2) You and hubby: vacation together and farm the kids out. (3) You and hubby vacation together, and hire somebody to stay with the kids.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Olive Senior Citizens Aid Drive

Olive Senior Citizens are helping to put Benedictine Hospital's Building Fund "over the top."

Mrs. Edward Gille, wife of the president of the Town of Olive Senior Citizens, presented a check for $175, donated by Olive Senior Citizens, to Edward Scanlan, Olive Benedictine Building Fund chairman. Mr. Gille was hospitalized and unable to make the presentation at the June 20 meeting of the Olive Seniors at Veterans Hall in Ashokan.

Scanlan expressed appreciation to the group for its cooperation, stating that "the success of the Fund Drive has been made possible by the civic responsibility of groups like the Olive Seniors."

Welcome Wagon Club

The Greater Kingston Welcome Wagon Club recently completed another club year, one of the most fruitful in the club's history.

To date there are 61 paid members. Service hours accrued during the year amounted to more than 1250 hours, with 45 members participating. The major fund-raising drive benefited Ulster County Chapter, Association for Retarded Children. A check in the amount of $1831 was donated to the Association. This was the largest contribution ever received by ARC from a community organization.

A flea market took place in June from which $169 was given to ARC, making a total yearly donation from the Club of $2000.

Welcome Wagon Club is a service organization which raises funds for various charitable organizations each year. Members also serve the community by volunteer work in clinics, the Infirmary, the Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy Rehabilitation Center Thrift Shop, providing transportation for Cerebral Palsy Rehabilitation children, and in eye screening for Amblyopia in pre-school children.

The Club also has many social activities, along with special programs presented at monthly meetings held at the Bonanza Branch of Heritage Savings Bank.

Some New Ideas for Breakfast, Brunch

EGGS IN A HOLE

With the summer vacation season here, relatives from out of town, old friends who have moved away, and chums of the children often come to visit. If they stay overnight or pop in some morning, here are some simple ideas for breakfast or brunch that will encourage them to return again next year. These dishes also make a nice sendoff before the family departs for beach or golf course on a sunny weekend morning.

BREAKFAST BREAD 'N

Cut slices of raisin bread into three-fourths-inch cubes and place in a cereal bowl. Add slices of your favorite fruit or berries — strawberries, blueberries, peaches, bananas, raspberries. Pour ice cold milk over fruit and bread cubes and brown sugar. Serve at once.

Use one slice of toasting-white bread for each serving. Cut a 2-inch diameter hole in the center of each slice, using a cookie cutter or an overturned glass.

Heat butter or margarine in a skillet one-fourth inch deep. Add bread slices and fry until golden brown on one side.

Turn bread and drop an egg into each hole. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Lower heat and brown slowly until egg white is firm. Fry the round pieces removed from the bread and serve with egg.

WAFFLED BREAD AND CHEESE

Make sandwiches, using slices of tea loaf and slices of processed American cheese.

Spread the outside of each sandwich with soft butter or margarine. Place on a preheated waffle iron. Lower lid and press down softly.

Toast sandwiches on medium heat until brown and crusty. Serve at once with oranges.

Food Tips

A pound of apples (three to four medium) will yield about 1½ cups of applesauce. A can of applesauce (about 16 ounces) yields two cups.

Nice with fish: a half cup of thinly sliced cucumber mixed with a cup of medium white sauce.

You can cut food costs by using evaporated milk in cooking.

UP AND OVER — Twins' Danny Thompson is upended after pitcher Dave Goltz' throw to him for a force at second is wide and Rangers' Dave Nelson slides in. Minnesota was down by one run at the time, but Texas went on to score three more in this inning, the fourth, and won the game, 7-3. (UPI)

His Streak, Temper, Spot

Mike Lost It All

By United Press International

Mike Cuellar lost it all Tuesday night, his winning streak, his temper and his spot on the field.

The usually mild-mannered lefthander was ejected in the third inning and was long gone by the time Mickey Lolich completed his seven-hitter that gave the Detroit Tigers a 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, snapping Cuellar's nine-game winning streak.

Cuellar, who usually has good control, was enraged that umpire Russ Goetz was calling the close pitches against him. The result was that he was charged with five walks in three innings. The call that really got to Cuellar was a ball four to Jim Northrup with "he bases loaded, forcing in the Tigers' second run.

Cuellar squawked at the time and then continued the argument with Goetz after he retired Jerry Moses to end the inning.

Goetz decided that was enough and ejected Cuellar, a move that brought Manager Earl Weaver out of the dugout—and he was ejected, too.

In the fourth inning, guess who walked out to the mound for Baltimore—Mike Cuellar. The Orioles tried to claim that only Weaver had been ejected. But Goetz hadn't forgotten his

White Sox 10, Royals 9

In a 3-hour, 47-minute marathon, Bill Sharp was the difference in Chicago's win over Kansas City. Sharp led off the 10th and 12th innings with singles and scored both times. In the last of the 10th, Kansas City came back to tie it but Terry Forster, who went five innings for the win, blanked the Royals in the last of the 12th to end the game.

Rangers 7, Twins 3

Jeff Burroughs and Mike Hargrove helped ignite a pair of three-run innings for Texas in its victory over Minnesota as Twins' Manager Frank Quilici continued to have a shaky hold on his job. Burroughs also hit his 14th homer of the season for Texas. Ferguson Jenkins won his second straight after four straight losses to boost his record to 9-8. Rod Carew went 4-for-5 for the losers to boost his average to .397.

A's 6, Angels 1

Jim Hunter picked up his 10th victory of the season to pace the A's past the Angels. The Athletics backed up Hunter with 13 hits including a two-run double by Sal Bando in the third inning that snapped a 1-1 deadlock. Hunter gave up nine hits while going the distance. Frank Tanana, now 4-11 and the league's losingest pitcher, took the loss.

Yogi Hopes So

A Pennant Drive?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Maybe an opposite field homer by Rick and walk of the game after the New York Mets are starting Monday, his sixth, and Koos-Geronimo's belt, and Bench a pennant drive a little early. man had no apology. "He hit a scored him, banging a double Though buried in last place in real good pitch," he said. "A to right field. Driessen then sin- the National League's eastern fast ball outside and went with gied Bench home.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Dave Rader's error at the plate let in San Diego's first run in the seventh inning, then Bob by Tolan singled home two more to send the Giants down to their 16th loss in 19 games.

But Monday's blow was much the Chicago Cubs, and Manager too late and too little. Three Yogi Berra said, "Maybe we're singles gave the Mets a run in starting to put it together."

Putting it together, in this delivered his three-run homer case, consisted of lefthander Jerry Koosman throwing only Cubs starter Rick Reuschel who 91 pitches in a four-hitter, and took his fifth loss against six Ed Kranepool connecting for wins, allowing seven hits and his first home run of the season with two mates on base to set up the 5-1 victory.

Koosman won his third straight decision and his eighth against four losses.

"I hope we're starting a pennant run," Berra said. "We haven't been hitting and we've had a lot of injuries. When our hitting's been good, our pitching's been bad, and we just haven't had both good at the same time.

"Now we've had two well-pitched games here, and maybe we can get started."

Koosman said his four-hitter, from the standpoint of the number of pitches, was his best this year. "My next lowest," he said, "is 115, and in one game I threw 143 times. I average between 120 and 125.

"My fast ball was good, but rather than challenge the hitters the whole game, I still set them up the same way. I mixed up my throws and used the breaking ball, and I had a good offspeed curve ball to keep them off stride.

"Then I had the kind of control where I could keep the ball down and move in and out, and I didn't have to try for strikeouts. I'd get two strikes on a hitter, and I wouldn't have to come back with a strike out pitch.

"A pitcher has to have a secret weapon and you can't use your best pitch when you're not in real danger."

The Cubs' only run came on Dierker also had a one-hitter Tuesday night—for six innings. Then Cincinnati's Cesar Geronimo slugged a leadoff homer in the seventh and Johnny Bench and Dan Driessen drove in runs that wrecked Houston, giving the Reds a 3-2 victory over Dierker and the Astros.

In Tuesday's other National League games, San Diego defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1 and St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7.

Renko gave up only a one-out sixth-inning single by Dave Cash, a pitch punched into right field. "He hit a curve ball," said Renko. "I jammed him with it. He didn't hit it that well."

Scaramouche Leads

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — With dozens of losers still headed for the finish line, the Scaramouche, a 55-foot sloop, has captured top honors among the 166 yachts in the 29th Newport-Bermuda yacht race.

The Scaramouche, a Class B boat owned by Charles Kirsch of Sturgis, Mich., was declared the winner Tuesday with a corrected time of two days, 15 hours, 59 minutes, 56 seconds in the 655-mile competition.

Most trailing entries were expected at St. David's Head today after an ocean voyage that began Friday at Newport, R.I., in heavy fog. Only two starters were reported to have dropped out of the race.

The two leading runners up in the race were Charisma, a Class B entry owned by Jesse Phillips of Dayton, Ohio, and the Recluta III, a Class C sloop owned by Carlos A. Corna of Buenos Aires.

The Charisma posted a corrected time of 2:16:21:43 and the Recluta III had a corrected time of 2:17:17:44.

Winners in the six divisions were: Class A—Dora IV, 2:18:04:47; Class B—Scaramouche; Class C—Recluta III; Class D—Diane, 2:22:21:08; Class E—Reindeer, 3:01:38:21; and Class F—Hot Canary, 2:23:12:36.

The fastest entry in the race was the 79-foot Ondine, actually the first yacht across the finish line Monday with an elapsed time of 2:20:08:22 to set a new race record.

But the Ondine, one of the two biggest yachts in the race, was giving away as much as 25 hours in the handicapped battle for top honors with the smaller craft, ranging down to about 30 feet.

Panella and DeBrosky DCSL Baseball Picks

POUGHKEEPSIE: Saugerties High School's third base sparkplug Larry Panella and Kingston High's talented outfielder Walt DeBrosky have been named to the Dutchess County Scholastic League All-Star baseball team.

Panella, a Freeman all-star pick, hit .348 for the Sawyers and made only one error at third base. He led his team in runs batted in, triples, home runs, and stolen bases. He also sparked on the mound with a 2.53 earned run average.

DeBrosky was one of the few bright spots for an otherwise so-so Kingston club. At that, he hit only .260 for the season, but that was second highest average on the team.

The DCSL team was headed by pitchers Mike Tulacz of league champion Ketcham and Scott Gleckel of Arlington. The catcher was Arlington's Ken Boshart. Bob Martinson of Ketcham got the nod at first base with Phil Gatti of Ketcham and Keith Lerner of Beacon sharing second base honors. The shortstop was Mike Tancredi of Beacon. Joining DeBrosky in the outfield were Charlie Hayden of John Jay and Mike Neborak of Ketcham.

Freshman pitcher Tim Cole, junior shortstop Nick Malgieri, and senior outfielder John Lack of Saugerties earned berths on the honorable mention list.

Lakers Sign Brian Winters

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers signed their No. 1 draft pick, 6-4, 185-pound guard Brian Winters of South Carolina, to a multi-year contract Tuesday.

Terms of the pact were not released.

In his three varsity seasons at South Carolina, Winters shot 49.9 per cent from the field and 79.8 per cent from the foul line while averaging 13.2 points per game. He averaged 20 points a game last season as the Gamecocks compiled a 22-5 record.

Laker general manager Pete Newell said Winters, the 12th player picked in the 1974 draft, was "the 1974 college crop's best outside shooting guard."

A native of Rockaway, N.Y., Winters said he looks forward to joining Jerry West, Gail Goodrich and Jim Price in the Laker backcourt.

"The only way you become a better player," Winters said, "is to play against the best. I'll have the opportunity here to play everyday with Jerry West and the others."

One of the general rules of play that everyone is taught is "Cover an honor with an honor."

Like all general rules you will do better if you follow it every time rather than never follow it. But you will do best if you learn when to follow it and when not to.

South wins the first club, or ducks and wins the continuation. It doesn't matter much. He has to lose two clubs and one diamond and success or failure depends on whether or not he loses a trump trick.

With eleven trumps the correct percentage play is to try to drop the king. It will work exactly 52 per cent of the time. So, all else being equal the expert will play for the drop.

However, all else doesn't have to be equal. Any good player will lead his jack of spades. If West has been taught to cover an honor with an honor on each and every occasion he will clatter up with the king and south will make his contract anyway.

If West sees that this is not the time to cover (it isn't) but goes into a huddle before ducking, South will finesse in the theory that West's huddle meant that he was thinking of covering.

However, if West just plays his six spot unconcernedly, South should rise with dummy's ace. After all, that is a 52 per cent chance. East will show out and another contract will bite the dust.

Soviet Space Lab Orbits Earth

MOSCOW (UPI) — An unmanned Soviet Salyut space laboratory orbited earth today on a research mission that may have the added goal of impressing President Nixon about Russian scientific know-how.

Western space experts said the Soviets may launch one or more manned Soyuz missions to link up with the multi-ton space laboratory.

The experts said the manned shot may come during Nixon's week-long visit that starts Thursday.

The official Tass news agency Tuesday announced the launching of Salyut-3. Two previous Salyut missions have failed and this was the first such shot in 14 months.

Nixon was scheduled Saturday to visit Star City, the cosmonaut training center near Moscow where nine American astronauts are preparing for a planned U.S.-U.S.S.R. space linkup next year.

The official Soviet news media made no mention of a manned space shot, nor have they been lavish with details on the Salyut mission. The American astronauts learned of the flight from Western newsmen.

Three cosmonauts docked with the first Salyut station in 1971 but died when they reentered the earth's atmosphere because of a faulty hatch on their Soyuz space craft.

The Soviets orbited another Salyut in April, 1973, but four solar panels ripped off and the wildly bucking craft disintegrated in space. No attempt was made to send men aboard it.

Unless they can pull wonders with the present mission, the Soviets are way behind the United States in manning orbiting space stations.

Three U.S. astronauts climaxed the American program last winter by spending 84 days aboard a Skylab station.

Kidnapers Demand $4 Million

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas Tuesday demanded a $4 million ransom and the release of hundreds of prisoners for the return of a kidnapped Mexican senator.

The demands were contained in a communique signed by Lucio Cabanas, leader of the "Poor People's party" guerrilla band.

The group has been blamed for more than 10 years of kidnappings, robberies and attacks on Mexican army convoys in the hills of Guerrero just north of Acapulco.

The letter received by a newspaper demanded "that all the jails in the State of Guerrero be opened" and that an unspecified number of "political prisoners" in federal jails be released.

The Mexican government made no official comment on the communique. Since last October it has refused to deal with terrorists and has twice refused to free prisoners in several mountain villages.

The ransom demand breaks the previous record in Mexico of $500,000 asked for U.S. vice consul John Patterson, who disappeared in Hermosillo last March and has not been seen since.

The existing record for ransoms paid is the $400,000 that set millionaire Carlos Felton free after his kidnapping in Mazatlan in 1972.

In May of 1973 the Mexican government released 30 prisoners to save the life of U.S. Consul General Terrance Leonhardy, kidnapped in Guadalajara.

Sen. Ruben Figueroa disappeared May 30 after he left his home for a mountain rendezvous with Cabanas, presumably to offer the guerrilla leader amnesty.

The Revolutionary Institutional party nominated Figueroa Sunday as its candidate for governor of Guerrero, an action that normally assures victory.

The Cabanas communique also demanded delivery of 100 rifles and 50 pistols, plus solutions to seven political and economic problems that include land reform and labor disputes and police brutality.

It was the third communique received since Figueroa disappeared. The first two confirmed that the senator was being held for ransom and demanded withdrawal of Mexican army

Nixon Signs NATO Declaration

BRUSSELS (UPI) — President Nixon today briefed NATO leaders on his forthcoming summit talks in Moscow and signed a declaration reasserting the American commitment to Western Europe.

Following a two-hour closed meeting with leaders from the 14 other North Atlantic Treaty Organization members, Nixon signed the declaration that was not the "new Atlantic charter" the administration hoped for a year ago but was an attempt to show American good will toward its allies.

The Atlantic declaration said the U.S. nuclear umbrella is "indispensable" to European defense, restated Western Europe's own part in its defense, said all members should keep defenses "at the required level," and urged political and economic harmony among the allies through consultation.

Smiling and showing no sign of the phlebotomy attack in the left leg that he suffered at the beginning of his Mideast trip two weeks ago, Nixon put his signature to the document after all other NATO members had signed it in alphabetical order.

The President planned meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and Italian Prime Minister Mariano Rumor later in the day.

Nixon flies to Moscow Thursday for his summit meeting that officials said will not produce a permanent arms limitation agreement but, hopefully, a step toward avoiding a runaway arms race.

The President's doctor, Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach, said Nixon is still suffering from phlebotomy—an inflammation of the veins in the left leg—and he kept the leg elevated during the plane trip from the United States Tuesday.

"He's in no pain and the swelling has gone down," Tkach said.

Nixon spends a day and a half in Brussels before heading for his second visit to Moscow.

A senior official traveling with the President said during the flight over that no permanent strategic arms limitation agreement would be reached during the visit but Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev would try to reach broad agreement on "where they want to go."

Nixon's last visit to the Soviet Union, in May, 1972, ended with the signing of a limited agreement to control antiballistic missile defenses. But at departure ceremonies in Washington Tuesday, Nixon was careful not to promise anything as concrete during this trip.

Accompanied by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's heavily guarded motorcade drove to the NATO headquarters in a light drizzle today.

"Who ordered the rain?" Nixon asked jokingly as he was greeted by Luns.

Threats From Egypt

By United Press International

Egypt threatened today to use its air force to defend Lebanon against Israeli air strikes and Israel warned it stood ready to declare a new Middle East war if necessary to protect itself.

The warnings came in separate interviews as scores of Palestinian refugees fled their camps in Lebanon in fear of Israeli reprisal attacks for an Arab guerrilla raid that killed seven persons at the resort town of Nahariyya.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat told the magazine Al Sayyad in Cairo that he might send the nation's air force to fight in Lebanon if requested by the Lebanese government.

"Israel must understand that Lebanon will not be left alone and that the Arabs, and Egypt in the forefront, are not more eager to preserve peace and avoid a fifth war than preserving the people of Lebanon," Sadat said.

In Tel Aviv, Israel's chief of staff Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur said in an interview in the army magazine Bamahaneh that Israel preserved the option of going to war "if the skies darken."

In Jerusalem, police said they dismantled three bazooka rockets and exploded them in the past 12 hours.

Arab newsmen said Israeli artillery began bombardment of four villages in southeast Lebanon Tuesday night and inflicted casualties, but they did not give specific figures.

An Israeli military spokesman denied the attacks took place, but Israeli leaders delivered strong hints reprisal raids would be launched.

In Cairo, the Palestine Liberation Organization newspaper Falastine Al Thawra threatened new attacks for what it called an Israeli "genocide war."

The Arab League called a meeting in Cairo for Monday to plan concerted action to curb Israeli attacks on the Lebanese refugee camps, league officials said.

The Jerusalem Post said today in an unsorted report that the United States has cautioned Israel against overreacting to the guerrilla attack on Nahariyya.

The three guerrillas Monday killed a woman, her two children, and an Israeli soldier before troops cut down the terrorists in an apartment building.

In Damascus, the General Command of the Palestinian Revolution, which includes all guerrilla organizations, claimed the attack on Nahariyya originated in Israel.

But the Israeli military command said the guerrillas apparently landed in a commando-style raft found near the ill-fated Nahariyya apartment building.

In Baghdad, the Iraqi News Agency said the raiders belonged to the Iraq branch of Al Fatah, the largest and oldest Palestinian guerrilla group.

At the United Nations, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoa said in a letter to the Security Council, "Israel is obliged to take all necessary measures to protect its citizens," and he accused Lebanon of giving "terrorist groupings complete freedom of action."
